Jury Finds Ward Guilty As He Lies in Hospital

LONDON (Reuters) — Society osteopath Stephen Ward was found guilty on two of five counts in his vice trial here today.

The jury of 11 men and one woman announced the verdict after 4½ hours of deliberation while Ward, 50, was in hospital under treatment for a suspected overdose of drugs.

The findings: Guilty on charges that Ward lived on the earnings of prostitution between June 1, 1961, and Aug. 31, 1962, and between Sept. 1, 1962, and Dec. 31, 1962.

He was found not guilty on charges of living on the earnings of prostitution between Jan. 1, 1963, and June 8, 1963, and on two charges of luring and attempting to procure girls under age 21 to have unlawful sexual intercourse with a third person.

Mr. Justice Sir Archie Marshall said: "I propose to await news that Stephen Ward is physically ready to appear at the court."

He said that date "cannot, of course," be fixed at this time because of Ward's condition.

Peace River Group Watches BCE Developments Closely

VANCOUVER (CP) — The privately owned Peace River Development Corporation, which once planned to undertake the mighty Peace River development, is watching closely the developments surrounding the government-expropriated B.C. Electric Company.

Corporation president W. C. Mainwaring said today his legal officers are studying Monday's judgement by Chief Justice Sherman Latt, ruling unconstitutional the provincial government's expropriation proceedings and subsequent legislation dealing with BCE.

The future of his corporation depends on what happens, Mr. Mainwaring said.

At the time of the BCE expropriation in August, 1961, Premier W. A. C. Bennett's government also expropriated engineering plans, maps and other data that the corporation had prepared with respect to its plans to develop the Peace.

The government paid the corporation $5,000,000 for these plans but Mr. Mainwaring said today his company should have received at least $13,000,000 for them.

Likening racial barriers to the Red Sea and his people to the children of Israel, Rev. Edward Ducre of Queen's played: "We pray that you will lead us through our troubles... we ask you to melt the hearts of these white people who are denying us jobs."

The jury found he was not guilty of living on earnings of prostitution on the charge that concerned Vickie Barrett and Margaret Ricardo, both convicted prostitutes.

He was cleared of the charges of inducing Miss Keeler to procure girls for unlawful sexual intercourse and of attempting to procure a Miss X for the same purpose.

Ward was found guilty of the charges of living on the immoral earnings of prostitution in the periods when Christine Keeler and Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies were living with him.

A source close to Ward said that among the notes was one to Julia Gulliver, 22, his constant companion in recent weeks; one to Barry O'Brien, a newspaper reporter who testified in his defence at the trial; and one of his lawyers.

The informant added that Miss Gulliver was informed at the hospital at noon that Ward was out of danger, but would require 10 to 14 days of treatment.

Terrorism Curb Urged

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP) — Jack Staples, president of the Canadian Maritime Union (CMU), has urged Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy to end terrorism that has prevented the wharf-bound Howard L. Shaw taking on essential maintenance supplies in Chicago.

He said in a telegram Tuesday harassment by "gangster elements in the U.S. labor movement," including the brutal beating of a fuel barge watchman, had forced the dismissal of Canadian seamen manning the Upper Lakes Shipping Limited vessel. It has been under boycott by U.S. longshoremen and the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.), arch-rival of the CMU, since April 22.

Mr. Staples said the watchman's legs and arms were broken and "this outright gangster violence has succeeded in intimidating other U.S. workers" to refuse to supply the Howard L. Shaw with necessary fuel and stores.

Cuban Exile Group Report New Landings

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — A local Cuban exile committee, which said it received information from a clandestine shortwave radio, reported Wednesday that new landings by Cuban exiles have forced the Castro government into a general mobilization in southern Las Villas province.

Sea Claims Hero Of Lifesboat Sagas

COVERACK, Cornwall, England (AP) — Archie Rowe, 58-year-old lifeboatman and hero of scores of sea rescues, died Tuesday night after his fishing boat struck a rock outside the harbor and sank. Rowe's own lifeboat was launched to save him but a helicopter got there first. He died of shock soon afterward. Rowe had been co-swain of the Coverack lifeboat for 29 years.

Argentine Votes Today

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Presidential elections were held in Argentina today with a countrywide strike. Arturo Frondisi, scheduled to be elected, chose for Argentina's 20th president.

The final tally was not expected until Thursday, but it was said that enough judges would be available.

His administration is expected to be an anti-communist one, but he is expected to be a moderate in economic matters, foreign and domestic.

He contended the foreign oil contracts benefited some officials and merchants rather than the country as a whole.

There was 26 per cent of the vote in the July 1 election to elect the Argentine president. He picked up additional electoral college pledges in post-election negotiations.

Argentina's military, in over 10 years, has been the most stable in the world. It has given its approval to the July 1 results and cleared the way for an end to 16 months of political turmoil.

Yankee Go Home Called In Ceylon

COLOMBO (AP) — The entire opposition in Ceylon's House of Representatives supported a Communist amendment Wednesday calling on U.S. troops to get out of South Vietnam.

The Communist party amendment, calling on the government to "take action in the United Nations and elsewhere to help the Buddhists of South Vietnam and get the U.S. troops to quit" that country, was incorporated in the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Swedish Spy 'Known' As Risk In 1959

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Air Force Col. Stig Wennerstrom, charged with being a Soviet spy for 15 years, was a known spy risk four years before his arrest last month, a judicial panel says.

Three jurists, appointed to investigate the government's role in the spy case, said Tuesday night the Swedish defence minister was warned about Wennerstrom four years ago.

China Charges Soviet Policy 'To Ally With Imperialism'

PEKING (Reuters) — Communist China charged today Russia's policy was to ally with imperialism to oppose communism and to ally with the United States to oppose China.

China hurled out the unprecedented bitter accusation in a nuclear test ban treaty initiated by the U.S., Russia and Britain as a big fraud to fool the people of the world.

The violence of the statement caused immediate speculation in diplomatic circles here whether it would lead Russia to make some move toward severing diplomatic relations with China.

Observers said the direct challenge to Russian policy, coming from the highest Chinese level, lifted the "seventh veil" from the Sino-Soviet dispute, revealing China's open and unshamed hostility to Russian Premier Khrushchev's government.

Agent for RCMP Forced to 'Finish Gangleader Off'

MONTREAL (CP) — A crown agent who testified he was that guns were not to be used with working as an RCMP underling, was forced to finish off underling world figure Keith (Rocky) Pearson, threatened to death two years ago.

Frank Watson, who was severely beaten by baseball bats shortly after Pearson's death in June, 1961, and dumped in a ravine near Ottawa's Rockcliffe Airport, was testifying at the preliminary hearing of four men charged with capital murder in Pearson's death. They are Raymond Cara, Rosaire Daoust, George Aird and Armand Larose.

Watson testified that Daoust, Cara and Larose were with Pearson and himself the night Pearson was killed.

When he returned, he said, he saw "Big Ray" — whom he previously identified as Rosaire Daoust — run across a doorway.

"I thought he was playing a joke on me as he had his gun fixed at a tavern," Watson testified.

He said Pearson was obviously dead with his skull crushed and lying in a pool of blood.

"I had no choice," Watson testified.

Shortly afterwards, Watson testified, the two men in the office with him both slugged Pearson with a hammer and then handed him the hammer and told him to finish off Pearson.

First Events Get Under Way As Excitement Soars Higher

By BEN CASHMAN
Courier Managing Editor

The finer emotions were struck sharply in Kelowna today.

As the opening bells for the 57th annual Regatta pealed in the 70-plus clear sunshine, excitement began to build, an emotion that would continue to Saturday night.

Those hundreds who watched the first water events of the show were thrilled to tears by the intricate beauty of the artists vying for honors in the Pacific Northwest Synchronized Swimming Championships.

The daring and skill of the water skiers near Okanagan Lake bridge in the truck slung division of the Western Canadian Open Water Ski Championships, touched another chord in the hearts of those watching.

PARADE The parade, as do all parades, brought a chill of expectancy as children and adults alike were given a preview of the biggest wild west show in the west, a new added attraction to this year's edition of Canada's Largest Annual Water Show.

It was a day Kelownians could be proud of. Even those caught in the teeming traffic could smile as they waited patiently for the way to clear.

KARIN GOLLING... first winner

Ed Cole, Ron Munn, John Denninger, Chuck Bates and Irene McDonald were scheduled to perform their diving prowess at 3 p.m., followed by the flying skier and by Miss Shelby Howe, curvaceous queen of the unicycle, all in front of Ogo-pogo stadium grandstand.

The climax of the first day begins at 7:30 p.m. The Hon. Mr. Page will officially open the Regatta at 8 p.m. and entertainment will lead up to the spectacular "Crownema" for the new Lady-of-the-Lake at approximately 10 p.m.

The Crownema is the major production of the week. It is being directed by Ben Kopelow, widely respected Vancouver producer. Lights, music and action, have been blended into a quickly paced whole, designed to honor the Lady-of-the-Lake, who, Mr. Kopelow said "is actually the reason for the Regatta!"

ATHANS TOWER READY FOR ACTION

Although the 10-metre tower was named at its construction in 1951 for Kelowna's diving doctor, member of the Hall of Fame, George Athans, the sign was only erected in time for this year's Regatta. Athans tower is a familiar name to the diving world however. Many famous names have topped from its heights. The tower is the focal point of Regatta events, as well as the weekly summer Aquacades. Aside from its meaning to the diving world is its familiarity to city residents, the children who back in the sun beneath it, the women who glance at it while drinking coffee in the Aquatic dining room, and the thousands of drivers who pass it in circling the city park drive. — (Eric Hayes Photo)

Thunder of Hoofs Add To Midway Pandemonium

Thundering hoofs will add their clamor to the pandemonium of the midway as the 1965 Regatta unfolds.

For the first time in Regatta history a wild west show will lead its excitement to the biggest water show in Canada. The Buddy Heaton Wild West Buffalo Stampede will be staged twice daily, afternoon and evening at the City Park Oval through Regatta week.

Buddy Heaton, six-foot-three, 34-year-old world's champion rodeo clown and bullfighter, is described as "one of the most natural entertainers there is."

Featured in his show will be such diversified acts as burlesque clowning with fighting bulls, Patches, the "horse with a human mind," Kivets, a horse which will be jumped over an automobile by Buddy Heaton's 12-year-old daughter, and novelty acts of all kinds.

Clyde, the buffalo, will be ridden into a pickup truck at full gallop by Buddy Heaton. The buffalo is featured in a television series, Wagon Train, and also leads a buffalo stampede in an MGM picture, the largest rodeo clown and bullfighter, is described as "one of the most natural entertainers there is."

CHUCK WAGON

The pony chuckwagon races will be a star attraction during the wild west show.

"They are almost a show in themselves, and are becoming one of the most outstanding forms of horse racing of all time. They have only been held during the last five years."

"Races will be held daily during the Regatta," said Mr. Phillips.

Fancy and trick riding will also be presented during the show, by Mr. Heaton's sons and daughters. Mr. Heaton has six children, between the ages of four and 12 years. The oldest five, nine-12 years, participate in the show.

LIBERTY HORSES

"They will ride some of the finest Liberty horses in the world," said Mr. Phillips.

A star horse during the show will be Black Night, "the largest, wildest horse in the world," who will be "buck-out" by Buddy Heaton.

"We are glad Kelowna is responsible for bringing the show here and are hoping we can return again," said Mr. Phillips.

Stratford Festival Finale Received With Loud Acclaim

STRATFORD, ON. (CP) — which Mervyn Blake as Lachar The fourth and last of the 1965 Shakespearean Festival's major dramatic productions, Timon of Athens, was unveiled Monday night to a chorus of bravo from audience and critics alike.

With incidental music by Duke Ellington, a "provocative" new dance called the skillopoo and staged in modern dress with Montreal's John Colicos in the title role, this Michael Langham production attracted 81 drama, music, ballet and jazz critics and reviewers from throughout North America.

The near-capacity Festival Theatre audience was held enthralled by this almost incredible play about an embittered misanthrope, who dies sored on mankind after his fair-weather friends fall away when he is plunged into debt.

For Colicos it was the third triumph of the season—his performance of Hector in the highlight of Troilus and Cressida, one of the other two Shakespeare offerings, in this year's revival of Rosalind's Cynara de Bergerac already has been enshrined among the all-time greats.

Mr. Langham drew praise for the invention of his production—the lavish banquet scene complete with dancing girls who entice the guests into joining in the hip-swinging skillopoo, a Turkish bath sequence in

BILL KENNY is a former member of the Original Ink Spots singing group. His is the tenor voice in the original Ink Spots recordings. He lives in Vancouver, B.C., has appeared in engagements all over the North American continent. For the past number of years Bill Kenny has performed as a solo artist with a repertoire including many Ink

EDDIE PEABODY, King of the Banjo, earned his title and lives up to it. Mr. Peabody has sold more albums featuring banjo instrumentals than any other banjoist in the world. He will dedicate a special parody to the Lady of the Lake. Mr. Peabody comes directly to Kelowna from Sacramento, California, where he has appeared at the El Dorado Hotel for the second time this year.

REX CASTLE and his Little People will appear at the evening show on Thursday during Regatta week. Mr. Castle has appeared on Ed Sullivan shows as well as working in Las Vegas, New York, and Hollywood with notable success. He specializes in humorous and unusual puppet acts which repeatedly stifle and amaze audiences everywhere. Mr. Castle uses six different JIMMIE RODGERS' sudden rise to fame started when he and his wife left their home town for an audition with record representatives. The couple had to pass rigorous tests during the trip. But at his audition Jimmie sang "Honeycomb," the song that three weeks later was leading for the "top ten" on the hit parade. Jimmie never looked back from that success. He bought a guitar, and adapted to a quacker singing style, invented the folk song with a twang. With this new style, Jimmie has appeared on television in two motion pictures, and in numerous public engagements. Two years ago Jimmie discovered the University of Oregon graduates who began singing about campus life. They now back Jimmie in instrumentally and vocally, and perform an act of their own along with Jimmie's singing.

Bill Kenny Stars In 'Crownarama'

Bill Kenny expects tonight's Regatta "Crownarama" to be a thrilling experience. In an interview with the Daily Courier after last night's dress rehearsal he said, "I'm very impressed by Kelowna and the Okanagan." This Regatta is quite the thing. It is remarkable the effect of the water and the stage. I think this will be a thrilling experience for me and I hope the audience feel the same way," he said.

Russian Buyers Look At Herefords

OTTAWA (CP) — Russian buyers are looking over Hereford cattle in the Ottawa area on the close of a Canadian purchasing mission. The mission has placed an order for more than $500,000 worth of Alberta cattle. The Soviet Union imports about 100,000 head of Herefords and young bulls to develop hardy breeds in Russia.

RESTRICTED TRUCK TRAFFIC Allowed On Banff Highways

H. R. Styles, superintendent of the superintend at the operations of Rogers Park and Glacier National Parks, today released a new regulation amendment to the National Parks Highway Traffic Regulations. "Amendments permit restricted trucking on the Banff-Windermere and Banff-Jasper highways. Formerly, commercial trucking was not permitted on the Banff-Jasper Highway, and was allowed only in a limited manner on the Banff-Windermere Highway.

HEARD AND SCENE

During Monday night's water show rehearsal, stage hand Art Lariviere, was spending some idle time jumping on the trampoline on the floating stage. Suddenly he disappeared. It seems he was busy eyeing the pretty swimmers in the water ballet and ended up in the pool fully clothed.

Stage manager Max Power told a young girl bystander who was chattering away during rehearsal to be quiet or go home. The youngster replied tearfully "I can't go home, I'm a swimmer in the show."

Bill Kenny, star of Wednesday's "Crownarama," arrived in town Tuesday at 1 p.m. and by 2:30 p.m. he was out on the links at the Kelowna Golf Course, where he carded a 79.

Max Power said the Lady-of-the-Lake contestants were real trouper at Monday night's rehearsal. When the wind came up and started blowing their hair all over, there were no complaints or grumbling from any of them.

One of Buddy Heaton's horses in the Wild West Show is billed as a five-legged horse. It has an extra hoof growing from one of its front legs.

Overheard at the Tuesday hockey game as Bob Gruber's shot on the white goal was deflected up to the end of the arena where a picture of Queen Elizabeth hangs, by goalie Russ Kirk, "Hey, you lug, you hit the Queen!"

"We want Power, we want Power," was the chant set up by more than 100 youngsters at the door to the "Whites" dressing room after the game Tuesday night. Rink attendants had to clear the group away from the door before players could get out of the rink. Mr. Bower signed autographs for many minutes after the way was cleared.

Two well known journalists are in town for this year's Regatta. Ed Ogle, western correspondent for Time magazine makes his first visit to a Regatta this year. Mr. Ogle wrote most of the background material for a lengthy Time article on R. P. "Tim" Walrod, B.C. Tree Fruits executive, whose story appeared in a 1961 Time story. Another first-time visitor to a Regatta is Ken Liddell, columnist for the Calgary Herald, whose articles on vacation spots throughout the west have won him wide readership throughout Alberta. Both will be guests at the Regatta.

On Wednesday, word was received a large group from Ottawa will arrive here for the Regatta Friday afternoon. The group is headed by three ministers, Hon. Paul Martin, minister of external affairs, Windsor, Ont.; Hon. Arthur Lalum, minister of northern development, M.P. for Vancouver Centre. Also in the group will be J. Davis, M.P. Coast-Capilano, parliamentary secretary to the Prime Minister; J. Byrne, M.P., Kootenay-East; D. MacDonald, parliamentary secretary to the minister of justice, M.P. Toronto-Rosedale; J. Stewart, parliamentary secretary to Mr. Martin, M.P. Antigonish - Gaspereau. At least six civil servants, principally from the department of transport, will also be in the group.

Before the game Tuesday night one of the visitors to the Whiten dressing room was a Kelowna dentist who quizzed Johnny Bower on designs for face masks. Mr. Bower spent much time with the visitor and gave him the necessary information so masks could be made for Kelowna youngsters.

Someone should get a big stick or a policeman and chase down the Kelowna youngsters who have to wash their Ogojogo pool while precision swimming events are on. During the "Four Seasons" number, in the championship started today, part of the effect was spoiled by foot-high waves from a passing boat.

ANN LANDERS

Treat Him Like Any Other Child

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married four years. We have a two-year-old son. The problem is tantrums—not the boy's, but his father's.

If Woodrow can't find what he is looking for he pulls everything out of the drawer and leaves it on the floor. Several months ago he broke his toe kicking the furniture. This spring he sprained his wrist punching a dent in the car because it was out of gas.

Last week when Woodrow got hold of a shirt with a loose button he tore the collar off and left the shirt in the refrigerator so I wouldn't miss it.

Woodrow left for work this morning without speaking because I washed a theater stub in his shirt pocket. I don't know how to deal with his temper. Can you suggest something?

Dear Molly: Deal with him as you would any child who has tantrums. Take all sharp objects out of hands and ignore him. Woodrow needs professional help but if you suggested it he'd probably have another tantrum.

Dear Ann Landers: I read where the woman from Atlanta who was named "Secretary of the Year," said a good secretary limits her personal calls to necessities and emergencies. She put it this way: "Remember, when you are in the office your time belongs to your employer."

I've been working here for

Jet Drops Candy To The Children

DIJON, France (AP)—"Dear sir—we think your jet planes are pretty but the noise hurts our ears. We think you should make up for it by parachuting some candy to us."

That letter, to the commander of a French Air Force base here, was signed by 16 youngsters attending a summer camp.

A jet whistled over their camp Friday and a small parachute floated to the earth. Dangling beneath it was a four-pound box of candy.

Lakeview Heights Residents Enjoy Banff Camping Holiday

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Dooley, Margaret and John accompanied by Gloria Lingar have returned home following a camping holiday in Banff. They particularly enjoyed the drive over the Rogers Pass, riding in the chair lifts and swimming in the pools in Banff and Radium. They returned through Windermere and the Monashee.

Previously Mr. Dooley and Margaret spent a short holiday at Langley, visiting relatives, and Margaret won an aeroplane ride in a dual-control plane, from the Skyways Air Training school. In the meantime Mr. Dooley were enjoying fishing at Penak Lake for a few days.

Miss Marie Dooley is the guest of her godmother Mrs. Alan Searns in Cardinal Ontario. Marie flew from Vancouver by jet early in July, and is having a wonderful time sightseeing at Niagara Falls and Ottawa among other places, and is expected home late in August.

Mr. Walter Greenwood from Norwich, England was the guest of his nephew Malcolm Greenwood and family for the past ten days. He stayed in Victoria recently, and expects to visit relatives on the prairies before returning to England late next month.

Dear Fruss: Have a ready phrase and rehearse it aloud so you can say it easily. Here's a sample: "Please save it for later. I'm terribly behind right now." Then continue to work.

If you repeat this five or six times (using precisely the same words) she'll get the picture and leave you alone.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how to maintain a healthy balance between the possessiveness of my husband's family and the indifference attitude of my own parents.

The possessive in-laws live out of the state. They are hurt if we don't send our children to them for one month every summer. They send the kids gifts galore and phone long distance every week just to talk to them. Frankly they overdo it.

My parents are just the opposite. They live nearby, but we don't see much of them. They have never offered to sit with the kids or even taken them out for an ice cream cone.

I want our children to like both sets of grandparents the same. We hate for them to be "bought" on the one hand and ignored on the other. What do you suggest? — DOUBLED O.

Dear O: You are not going to change either set of grandparents so don't try. And you can forget about getting the children to like both sets of grandparents "the same." All people react to the treatment they receive and coaching from the sidelines is a waste of breath.

The annual Lion's zone picnic was held in Barnes Playground on Saturday when representatives from Vernon, Penticton, Salmon Arm and Osoyoos, Wash., gathered to take part in the competitions on land and in the swimming pool. A picnic supper concluded the day.

Wm. Woods, a pioneer resident of Enderby has been receiving congratulations this week on the occasion of his 89th birthday.

Carl Richard Huhndorf died July 15 at the Delview Hospital, Vernon. He had been in poor health for several years.

For 18 years Mr. Huhndorf was a barber in Enderby, a quiet, friendly man, who will be missed in the community.

The funeral was held on Thursday from the Kingdom Hall, Enderby, with Roy McMahon officiating.

Mr. Huhndorf is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Atkinson of San Bernardino, California and Mrs. Tony Miller of Marang, Arizona, who were unable to be present, and by a son Mr. Roy Huhndorf of Alderwood Manor, Wash., who attended the funeral with his wife and family. Pallbearers were Martin Francis, Herbert Francis, Earle Cameron, Robert Forghy, Clary Moss and Henry Hendricks.

Congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Annett (nee Ann Walker) on the birth of a son, Steven Frederick, July 19 in Vancouver.

Injunction Dismissed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A trucking firm's application for an injunction against the Teamster's Union has been dismissed by Mr. Justice J. A. Alkins.

Doman's Transport Limited and Doman's Freightways Ltd., a subsidiary, had applied for an injunction to restrain a local of the independent union from persuading Deeks McBride Limited and other building supply firms not to do business with them.

Doman's alleged that the union wrote Deeks McBride advising them they were violating their agreement with the union by hiring Doman's trucks.

Mr. Justice Alkins ruled that the union was merely enforcing a collective agreement with Deeks McBride which specified that preference be given firms with Teamster agreements whenever additional trucks were required.

ADORNMENTS FOR JUBILEE BOWL

Two city girls take advantage of an unusually deserted shady corner of the City Park. Maureen Cundy, 16, and Betty Austen, 17, lounge in front of the Jubilee Bowl, popular gathering place during summer performances. During the afternoon and evenings of Regatta week, acts of the highest calibre will be featured at the outdoor stage. During the summer the spot is much-frequented, in late afternoon of sun-bathing and at evening programs sponsored by the Junior Chamber of commerce. Thousands beach across the park drive at the Hot Sands, and afterwards make use of the several acres of grass in the park for various activities, be they idly lounging or actively playing ball.

De Gaulle Claim Not Supported

BRUSSELS (AP)—A West German spokesman disagreed today with President de Gaulle's idea that Europe should grow pretty much all its own food.

Hans Hille, press officer for Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder, came out of a meeting of Common Market leaders today to make the point to reporters.

At a press conference Monday de Gaulle said the Common Market could hardly be called a community if it does not supply its essential needs in food.

Foreign ministers from the Common Market met today for the last time before the summer vacation, with a series of tough problems to deal with. How to organize its food production was one.

The market's council of ministers today approved an agreement with Britain abolishing all duties on tea and tropical woods, a community spokesman said today.

Under the arrangement all imports of tea and tropical woods will have duty free entry into the Six and Britain by Jan. 1, 1964.

A spokesman said the decision applied to all tea except tea in packages where there was a duty suspension to five per cent.

Builder of Rowing Shells A Man of Many Talents

Gordon Jensen, a man of many talents and one of the best builders of rowing shells in the world, is a Kelowna Regatta enthusiast.

He recalled a fascinating episode in his life that happened in 1952.

"I made all the racing shells for the Canadian Olympic team participating in that year's Olympics at Helsinki, Finland," he said, "and was supposed to accompany the team as boatman to supervise the care and maintenance of the shells. However, I did not get away to make the trip."

Shortly after I received a telephone call from the Canadian Olympic committee. It seems that in crossing the Atlantic the shells had been damaged on the boat. The committee would like to catch the next plane to investigate upon arriving in Stockholm, to my dismay, found the shells were not damaged.

He became a flight engineer in the RCAF and went overseas in the latter part of World War II as a pilot on loan to the RN fleet air arm.

Returning to Kelowna after the war, he married and started building boats. He built the new Kelowna Regatta regatta as well as all the paddle boards at the Aquatic used in Regatta swim shows. He has also made Pentecost's war canoes and shells.

Floors for many new B.C. arenas were also built here by Mr. Jensen. He built the new Kelowna Memorial Arena in 1961 and the arenas at Kamloops, Merristown, Penticton and Trail afterwards. He left for California with his family again in 1957 and stayed until the summer of 1961 when they returned to Kelowna.

He said, "The only solution to the problem was to pack up some spare parts from the shells and we only got the spare parts that were left in their shellhouse and they had to be re-rigged and repaired to adapt to Canadian crews. I spent four frantic days and nights with the Swedish and Finnish work crews. I was able to master, none of whom could speak English and I of course didn't speak their language."

Just in time. "Somehow we got the job done," said Mr. Jensen, "but our next problem was transportation to Helsinki. We finally ferried them into a Russian naval blockade which slowed us up more. At this stage we were racing against time. Once in Helsinki we had difficulty maneuvering the shells through the narrow streets of the Finnish capital. After completing final work we miraculously got the shells into the water 20 minutes before race time," he said.

Born and educated in Kelowna, he left for California in 1959 where he took a course in aeronautical engineering. He returned to Vancouver early in the war and worked on assembly of flying boats and later in engineering with Canadian Pacific Airlines.

He said, "A beginning has been made on the recruiting of local components."

This year Mr. Jensen built the complete line of shells for the city. He says a party lately held the Kelowna Regatta furnished the Kelowna Regatta with the Kelowna Regatta. "The building was put up of my firm could lease it from the city to manufacture aircraft component parts. Right now we are using it for our plastic and fibre glass work," he said.

"Next year it is our aim to expand and build a larger building on another site and we will make production speed process for shipping to other points."

Agency Planned For War Supplies

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is creating the nucleus of a war supplies agency to control production, distribution and prices in event of a national emergency, the Commonsense defence committee was told today.

Defence Production Minister Drury said staffing of the agency's national organization has already been completed by the selection of present federal government officials "on a standby basis."

The agency would also have regional and local organizations. The staffing of the 10 regional components, also on a standby basis, has been substantially completed by drawing on the personnel of the provincial governments, business and industry, and the field staff of various federal departments and agencies.

A beginning has been made on the recruiting of local components.

Witness Identifies Negroes In Killing

KOKSTAD, South Africa (Reuters)—An African witness identified 30 other Negroes as being present when five whites were hacked to death at a trailer camp in the Transkei in February. The 30 defendants were charged with the murder of an African contractor, Norman Grobbelaar, 48, his wife, their two daughters and his nephew. The prosecution said it would try to show that the murders were the work of the Poqo terrorist underground organization, which aims to exterminate all white people.

The staff of the 10 regional components, also on a standby basis, has been substantially completed by drawing on the personnel of the provincial governments, business and industry, and the field staff of various federal departments and agencies.

Aid For Stranded Piccadilly Club Offered By American Airlines Firm

TORONTO (CP)—Caledonia Airlines, a New York-based company, has offered to fly home for $100 each 123 members of the bankrupt Piccadilly Club who are stranded in Britain and Canada.

A spokesman said the airline was offering the cut rate to 84 Canadians in the United Kingdom and 37 Britons in Canada on a "hardship basis."

The tourists, who had paid their return fares on chartered flights organized by the Piccadilly Club, were stranded when the club was unable to finance their return flights. Chartered flights for another 86 members who paid $275 each have been cancelled.

Edward Scott, New York representative for Caledonia Airlines, said the $100 fare offer was subject to all 123 passengers participating in the flight.

"If some have made their own arrangements, then price must go up a little," he said.

"The round trip for a 102-seat DC-7 will cost $14,500 which is cutting the price down to the bone. It's even lower than cost, but we're prepared to do this for the sake of good relations."

"This business hasn't given the charter flight system very tourists' money and the Salvation Army launched with $500 good publicity and even though none of this is our fault we want to help out."

In other developments, the owner of a carage firm offered to pay $400 of legal costs of a fare for any of its residents possible action to recover the stranded in Britain.

GIRLS ANSWER MATING CALL

TORONTO (CP)—Two Australian girls have answered Alderman George Ben's call on behalf of lovelorn males.

Mr. Ben, who last week proposed government aid to import brides, received letters from two 21-year-old Melbourne misses, eager to come to Canada to meet Toronto bachelors after reading the story in their local newspaper.

The alderman suggested the plan to end the shortage of marriageable women in the city's new Canadian community.

The mother of one girl included in the letter: "I've never known a lass so interested in Canadians or Americans."

"She does not drink or smoke, or run around. She is a bit plump and a good natured girl. And she has lovely eyes."

The second girl, an advertising copywriter, says she is single and likes to travel.

Mr. Ben says he would prefer to hear from European girls from the homelands of the single men here, but added: "I'll write the Australian girls and say they're welcome. And I'll introduce them to all our handsome, eligible bachelors."

Trades, Retirements Basis of Eskimo Problem

EDMONTON (CP) — Trades, retirements, new faces and old injuries make Edmonton Eskimo coach Dave Green's job a tough one as he tries to put together a team for the 1969 Western Football Conference season.

Green's Eskimo key enters the 16-game schedule with only 20 players who have previous experience with Eskimo's and three new assistants to help him in his rebuilding year.

Trades sent quarterback Jackie Parker, Mr. Everything for nine years with Eskimo and first-string and Jim Leticavits to Eastern Conference teams.

Retirements claimed from line Canadian talent including linemen Ted Tully and Glen Prosser and tackle Jack Lamo. The United States Army took regular Pat Dye, a strong defensive end, and speedy halfback Bill McKenney, both graduates of Georgia.

Old injuries cost Eskimo the services of guard Mike Knecht early in training and have the coaches on pins and needles wondering if a short Canadian quarterback, Don Getty, center Don Dineen and rookie quarter James Earl Wright, the man who is supposed to make fans forget the great James Doornik-Parker.

With both Getty and Wright having knee injuries we had to bring in a number of quarterbacks just to be sure we'll keep three and unless he's really hurt Getty is about as sure of a spot as you can be.

Getty likely will open the season as number one quarterback. Newcomers include such hairy linemen as tackle Ken Peterson, 235 pounds, a late cut by Minnesota Vikings of the National League; Howard Benton, a 235-pound tackle from Miami State; and linebackers Zake Smith, 230 pounds, who graduated from Auburn but was contacted from Argos in the Pacific trade; Ken Reed, 230-pound Tulsa grad; Mickey O'Neil, 235 pounds from Oregon.

Quesnel Tops Trail In Little League

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Quesnel advanced to the B.C. Little League baseball playoffs with an 8-3 victory over Trail in the district final here Tuesday.

The B.C. playoff will open Thursday with the six top teams in the province.

Ted McAnulty was the winning pitcher.

Mets March Back From Precipice Ending 22-Game Losing Streak

New York Mets who had a knee by dropping their 20th game last night, bounced back from the precipice today behind Tracy Stallard, after ending their 22-game losing streak on the road.

Stallard, who's been to the brink twice and fallen over, kept Mets from setting a record for consecutive losses away from home by spinning a four-hitter that beat Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 Tuesday night and trimmed Dodgers' National League lead to 3½ games over San Francisco Giants.

The second-place Giants closed the gap as Willie Mays and Willie McCovey supplied the firepower for a 5-0 victory over Philadelphia Phillies. It was the ninth straight triumph for the surging San Francisco team, 10 games behind Los Angeles 10 days ago.

But the spotlight was clearly on Stallard, the man who served up Roger Maris' 61 homer and was on the mound when Mets set a modern record for road

The 25-year-old right hander, who's been to the brink twice and fallen over, kept Mets from setting a record for consecutive losses away from home by spinning a four-hitter that beat Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 Tuesday night and trimmed Dodgers' National League lead to 3½ games over San Francisco Giants.

The victory left Mets tied in the record book with the Pittsburgh team of 1890 at 22 road losses. The mark had remained unchallenged for 75 years, considerably the age of Mets' manager Casey Stengel, who celebrated his birthday before the game.

CARDINALS CLOSE IN — Third-place St. Louis Cardinals closed to within four games of Dodgers by beating Cincinnati Reds 7-5 as Ernie Broglio, just demoted to the bullpen, checked Reds on one run in 6½ innings of relief work. Milwaukee Braves bombed Chicago Cubs 9-2 and Pittsburgh Pirates walloped Houston Colts 8-1.

Mets, in era of 10 straight on the current road trip, collected 14 hits against Dodgers in support of Stallard, who struck out six and walked only one in bringing his record to 4-9. Ken McMillen's homer spoiled his shutout. Joe Hicks collected three hits for Mets. Jesse Gonder, Al Moran, Duke Snider and Frank Thomas two each. Thomas hit his ninth homer, off loser Bob Miller, 7-7.

Mays slammed two doubles and a single and McCovey hit his 31st homer, a three-run shot, to back up the shutout pitching of Billy O'Dell. O'Dell, nicked

Roebuck Fires High Hand At Dodger Boss

Relief specialist Ed Roebuck, leaving his Los Angeles prison for the American League dungeon at Washington, was on his way to join the Senators today after firing a high hand one at Dodger manager Walt Alston.

A 32-year-old right-hander with 15 years' service in the Dodger organization, Roebuck was sent to last-place Washington Tuesday in a waiver deal in which National League leading Los Angeles acquired infielder Marv Breeding. It was the major deal on a day of player shuffling.

Roebuck admitted that he was "sort of sad to leave" then lashed out "but in another way it's like getting out of prison—getting away from Alston."

He added: "I think the Dodgers will win the pennant in spite of Alston." While Roebuck predicted a pennant for Dodgers, two other contenders went about strengthening their clubs for the stretch drive.

Football Clubs Aid Athlete

SEATTLE (AP) — Two professional football teams and the University of Washington have agreed to major reductions in their share of an estimated $200,000 cost of an athlete's education here Aug. 11, indicating more money for paroled prisoner Brian Sternberg.

Greater Seattle, Inc., sponsor of the game between Kansas City Chiefs and Oakland Raiders of the American Football League, said Tuesday the team have waived a percentage arrangement for one-third of the gross and would accept a maximum of $25,000 instead.

The university has agreed to 10 per cent of the gross up to $100,000 for rental of its stadium instead of 15 per cent to $200,000 and 20 per cent beyond that.

Greater Seattle, a civic organization, has estimated total game expenses at $31,350. A sell-out would net about $200,000.

The money left after game expenses would go to the Jerry Lorentson Foundation for Injured Athletes, which is helping Sternberg.

Sternberg, who was paralyzed in a trampoline accident a month ago, was the first pole vaulter to clear 16 feet eight inches.

Architects Win BC Job

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two young Vancouver architects teamed up to win a unanimous prize for their plans on development of the new Simon Fraser University in suburban Burnaby.

Arthur Erickson, a University of B.C. architecture assistant professor, and Geoffrey Massey, an independent architect, won the $5,000 top award between them.

The plan, said the judges, an international panel of architects, would give the new university atop Burnaby Mountain the finest and most distinctive college plant in Canada.

Oil Company Found Liable

TORONTO (CP) — Shell Oil Company of Canada has been found liable for the $15,000 loss of a Newcastle area farmer's tomato crop when the company's formulated weed killer spray drifted on the crop.

The spray, Amine 60 2-4-D, was being applied two years ago to the farmer's corn crop by the area's Shell Oil representative, Harvey Farrow.

The farmer is Ulrich Ruggier, owner of 130 acres of land about 12 miles east of Oshawa. In a written judgment issued Monday, Mr. Justice Robert I. Ferguson found that the weed killer rendered Mr. Ruggier's crop unmarketable.

He said Mr. Farrow and an assistant had neither the mental equipment, education, time or energy to understand the mass of literature sent them on the weed killer by the oil company and the department of agriculture.

Mr. Justice Ferguson found the company at fault for failing to adequately warn Mr. Farrow of all the dangers of the weed killer.

HEART OF REGATTA PLANNING

Millions of feet will pass through Regatta headquarters doorway this week. Mrs. Gwen Daft, assistant to the Regatta secretary, in charge of ticket sales, anticipates the steady stream of city residents and visitors who will purchase tickets for the evening shows. Adding to the general confusion at the office will be the coming and goings of Regatta officials, who use the headquarters to plan and direct Regatta proceedings. The biggest national water show means hard work for those concerned with its unfolding, and the door at 218 Mill street never stops opening and closing until the last concession booth is put away until next summer. — (Eric Hayes Photo)

Leading Senators Boost Caldwell For Appointment

OTTAWA (CP) — Prominent Liberal and Conservative senators suggested Tuesday that M. J. Caldwell, former national leader of the CCF party, be appointed to the Senate.

The step was proposed in the Upper House by Senator J. W. de B. Farris (L.-British Columbia). It was supported by Senator W. Ross Macdonald, government leader and a member of Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet, and Senator M. Wallace McCutcheon (PC—Ontario), in an address calling for reforms to make Parliament more efficient.

Mr. Caldwell, 74, obviously surprised by the senators' remarks, said in a telephone interview from his Ottawa home, that if he were asked to become a senator he would consider such an offer.

Meanwhile, the Commons sat almost an hour longer than usual to continue debate on the Economic Council of Canada in the hope of recessing for the summer later this week. Additional hours may be added to the work roster for the rest of the week.

MAKES AMENDMENT

The government agreed Tuesday to make another amendment to its June 13 budget proposals—exemption of public libraries from the controversial 11-per-cent sales tax on building materials.

The concession was made as the House neared conclusion of debate on the government's bill formally approving the sales tax measure which also applies to production machinery.

The final committee approval of the bill was put over until today to allow an amendment to be drafted to clarify the application of the sales tax on construction under tender when the tax change became effective June 14.

The government's decision to exempt public libraries from the sales tax followed its July 8 announcement that schools and universities would not have to pay this tax on building materials.

The 11-per-cent tax proposed in the budget was scaled down July 8 to four per cent, effective June 14. The tax will be boosted to eight per cent on April 1, 1969, and to the full 11 per cent after the end of 1969.

Senator Farris proposed during the Senate throne speech debate that Caldwell's appointment during the Senate throne speech debate

Senator Macdonald said "we would like to see him here."

Senator McCutcheon said "I think he would make a great contribution."

Mr. Caldwell, a resident fellow at Carleton University, Ottawa, said that at present he is free of any political obligations.

"While the party to which I belonged was opposed to the Senate, I have always felt that any Senate reform taken would have the best interest of the country at heart. The appointment of people to the Senate who believe in Senate reform would be beneficial."

Mr. Caldwell was commenting on Senator Farris' Senate statement that there should be some senators appointed who are neither Liberal nor Conservative.

Senator Farris said he is not encouraging the New Democratic Party, successor to the party which Mr. Caldwell headed, as he does not approve of NDP policies or its leader, T. C. Douglas.

"But I do approve of Mr. Caldwell as an outstanding man, whom it would be worthwhile to have in this House."

Rusk's Moscow Trip 'Unlikely' To Result In Summit—Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rusk's forthcoming talks in Moscow will become a prelude to a summit conference.

They said Rusk will carry with him a letter from President Kennedy to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, but it is expected to be only a reply to the message Khrushchev sent via Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman.

Khrushchev's letter, high-ranking sources said, expressed his satisfaction with the agreement to ban all nuclear tests except underground but did not offer any suggestions on further steps to ease East-West tensions.

Kennedy's reply is expected to express similar feelings without attempting to break new ground.

State department officials denied any thought is being given to a big three meeting among Kennedy, Khrushchev and Prime Minister Macmillan.

Rusk is scheduled to leave Saturday for Moscow to sign the U.S., Soviet and British partial test ban treaty.

Nocturnal Frolics Not Approved

TORONTO (CP) — The commission caused by almost-nude young girls being chased around a suburban Scarborough park after dark has raised the ire of residents in the Leaview Park neighborhood.

"There's a gang of them," complained one resident, Don Ferguson. "About 25 boys and eight girls."

"Their favorite sport is to strip the girls down to their underwear and chase them around the park."

He said the police have been called about a dozen times this summer, but it was the same of the youths being chased by naked persons, language or creating a nuisance.

"Their parents pay the fines," said Mr. Ferguson, "and they are right back again the next night."

Canadian Students Blasted On "Goodwill" Uganda Mission

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—A group of Canadian and United States college students, here to promote better international relations during their summer vacation, has found itself the target of criticism from Uganda's two major political parties.

The students—members of Operation Crossroads Africa Incorporated, a people-to-people mission that helped inspire the U.S. Peace Corps—have been called hypocrites and subversive agents of American colonialism.

An official of the ruling Uganda People's Congress ridiculed them for offering to aid Africans when the United States was facing its own racial problems. Ironically, two of the Crossroadsers here are Negroes.

Crossroadsers have encountered criticism in other African countries. Last year, a member of the Southern Rhodesian Parliament suggested that a contingent of Crossroadsers be deported as creators of "disension, disorder and ill feeling."

WORLD BRIEFS

WORK CONTINUES
Despite the unfavorable comments the 11 Crossroadsers in this central African nation have appeared daily at Kiiza, a community in the southwestern Kigezi area, to work shoulder-to-shoulder with Africans on a project to build a clinic for the Protestant Church Hospital.

The Crossroadsers here are headed by Charles W. Brown, a lawyer from London, Ont., and include David Thomson and Martin MacQueen, both of London and both students at the University of Western Ontario.

Kirunda Kivungu, UPC secretary of research and information, criticized Operation Crossroads as a project to deceive Africans.

The real American attitude towards Africans is that which Opening lead—six of hearts.

Good defensive play is largely a matter of partnership cooperation. The defenders have to work together closely, giving each other the maximum amount of information about their respective hands, and in this way solve the mystery of declarer's hand.

The greatest boon to the defense is their proper use of defensive conventions. Many players do not realize how important it is to conform to the requirements of conventional play. The custom of leading the fourth best card of a long suit, for example, is much more than just a habit—there are many hands where adherence to the custom permits partner to obtain information vital to a successful subsequent line of defense.

In the same way, there are other defensive conventions that enable the defenders to function smoothly and play as though declarer's hand were exposed on the table.

Take this hand as an illustration. West leads his fourth best heart and the queen forces the ace. South plays the ten of spades and finesse, losing to the king. East returns the two of hearts.

It is this play of the deuce that makes it easy for West to win the nine with the ten and continue with the king to defeat the contract a trick. There is no doubt that many players holding East's cards would return the seven of hearts instead of the two, and thus present West with a defensive problem which he might not successfully solve.

It is all a matter of convention. Suppose East's original heart holding were the Q-7-2. Then, when he takes the king of spades, the proper return is his highest remaining heart, the seven. In such a case, West would not continue the suit because he would know that South started with the A-J-8-x of hearts.

But when East returns the two, showing he originally had four hearts (not three), it becomes easy for West to continue the suit, since he knows that South had only three hearts to start with.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
A really good day! Both business and finances should go well — especially if you put forth best efforts in the A. M. Long-pending projects should reach happy culmination now, and it's also a good period in which to make long-range plans. Expect some good news from afar.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that if, since the beginning of the year, you made constructive plans for job advancement and an improvement in your financial status, then follow them conscientiously, the next two months should bring, if not complete, at least partial, fulfillment of your aims. Further boosts along these lines are indicated next January and March. Do not be reckless in intervening months, however — a tendency which all Leoties will have to control during the next twelve months.

This new year in your life also promises much in the way of domestic, social and romantic happiness, and there is a likelihood that a short trip taken this month could prove highly enjoyable. Travel incidentally, will also be favored next January, June and July. If single, there is a chance for new romance between now and a high peak between mid-December and the end of March 1964. A child born on this day will be a born leader; would make an excellent executive or teacher.

DOUBLE BEAUTY IN THE SUN

Gail Vickers, and Martin Harris, both 16, and both from Okanagan Mission, take time out for a sunny swim on the Hot Sands just inside Okanagan Falls, the focal point of each year's Regatta. Unlike beaches at other resort towns, the Hot Sands never seems to be crowded, there is nearly a mile of public beach in Kelowna to add to the miles of private sands. Gail and Martin are just two of the levy of beautiful girls vying to become Miss Regatta. The Regatta will be able to see and appreciate — Miss Hayes (Photo)

ON THE PRAIRIES

Road Toll Zooms Up

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta's highway death toll for the first half of 1968 jumped 27 per cent over the 1967 mid-year total, the Alberta Safety Council reports. Thirty-six people died on the highways in June, 1968, compared to 24 in June, 1967.

WOMAN DROWNS

HIGH RIVER, Alta. (CP)—Margaret Peggy Kerr, 59, of Turner Valley drowned Monday afternoon when she fell into Highwood River. Police said the body was recovered. High River is 38 miles south of Calgary.

BOY LOSES LIFE

HAYS, Alta. (CP)—Police said Tuesday Steven Lank, 3, drowned Monday in an irrigation ditch near here. The body was recovered and no inquest will be held. Hays is about 50 miles west of Medicine Hat.

KILLED BY CAR

VIRIDEN, Man. (CP)—Two men were killed when struck by a car Monday while walking along a street in this community 53 miles west of Brandon. Police withheld the names of the men, both recent immigrants from Europe. Police said the driver was taken into custody.

TOO THINLY SPREAD

WINNIPEG (CP)—A. D. Thompson, director of elementary curriculum, said there probably won't be any grade 1 French classes in the Winnipeg school system this year. Under new regulations, French is taught to students who have French background but they seem to be spread too thinly in the schools to form a class, he said.

POLICY QUESTIONED

WANHAM, Alta. (CP)—A. O. Finlay, MLA for Spirit River and a member of the Alberta Northern Development Council, said the Alberta government soon may have to abandon its "pay-as-you-go" policy. He said the time has come when the government will have to borrow to finance future development—particularly in the north.

ASSISTANCE UP

WINNIPEG (CP)—Three per cent of Winnipeg's population received public financial assistance in 1967, the city welfare department said Tuesday in its annual report. The report said 3,600 people received more than $3,000,000 in welfare. The 1967 caseload was 2,514 costing about $3,000,000.

CONSULATE CLOSING

EDMONTON (CP)—Mayor Elmer Roper said Tuesday the American State Department's decision to close the United States Consulate here is "astounding." He said not only is Edmonton the provincial capital, "but it is the obvious center geographically and by population." The state department announced Monday its Edmonton consulate would be closed and the Calgary consulate expanded.

GIRL KILLED

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lorraine Ann Doyle, 8, of Winnipeg, died in hospital Tuesday night after she was hit by a half-ton truck while crossing a street in the City of St. James.

REGATTA HEADQUARTERS ARE LOCATED AT 1470 MILL STREET

"Dignity And Eminence" Mark Of Regatta Head

THE HON. PERCY PAGE

Alberta Lt. Gov. '63 Commodore

The Hon. John Percy Page, B.A., B.C.S., LL.D., Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, will hold the reins of the 57th annual International Regatta in his official capacity of Commodore.

Mr. Page was born in 1887, at Rochester, N.Y., and attended Brockville public school, Ontario (Ottawa high school, Hamilton Collegiate and Queen's university). He graduated with B.A. and B.C.S. degrees. He also attended the American Institute of Business, Des Moines, Iowa.

In 1910 Mr. Page married Maude Roche, of St. Thomas, Ontario, and they have one daughter.

He taught at Rothesay College, N.B. and in Ontario from 1906 to 1912, and was principal of commercial high school, Edmonton, Alta., 1912-32. He was a member of the school board in Edmonton from 1934-39.

Mr. Page is actively interested in sports. He coached the Edmonton "Commercial Grads" ladies world's champion basketball team for years. Attending the Olympic Games in 1924, '28, '32 and '36, he won nine Olympic contests. The team won a total of 302 out of 322 games played, over a period of 25 years.

He authored the book "Practical Office Training" (Pitman, 1925).

For 15 years he was a member of the Alberta legislature and was House leader for the Conservative party for eight years. From 1940-45 he represented West Edmonton constituency.

KNIGHT

Mr. Page has been Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta since 1959. In 1961 he was awarded an honorary LL.D. degree at the University of Alberta.

In the same year he was chosen Knight of Grace of the venerable order of the hospital of St. John of Jerusalem.

In Alberta, he is an active member of the Rotary club and the Mayfair Golf and Country club. Golfing is his favorite pastime.

He is a member of the United Church of Canada.

Mr. Page has proved through his history and the high esteem felt for him that he is perfectly suited for the position of Commodore, symbol of the dignity and importance of the Regatta itself.

The biggest water show in Canada will be launched in Kelowna July 31 by Commodore Percy Page, Lieut-Governor of Alberta.

The Commodore has been a traditional Regatta figure since 1904, when a Regatta committee first the show needed a "skipper."

His position is the most exalted of the show, as he represents the official symbol of the Regatta itself.

Commodore Page will preside over opening ceremonies at the Wednesday night show, and will attend all functions during Regatta week as an honored guest.

"The committee tries to secure well-known and distinguished personalities in public life for the position. It is a position which requires dignity and eminence," said a Regatta committee official.

Since the idea was first presented, Kelowna has hosted a succession of Commodores, who added a quality of stature to the show.

The list has included, through the years, several premiers, members of the legislature, and three lieutenant-governors of B.C. The complete list is as follows:

1904—Col. Victor Spencer
1905—Hon. H. C. Nichols, Lt. Gov. of B.C.
1906—F. W. Peters
1907—F. W. Peters
1908-1913—Col. Victor Spencer
1914—C. A. Correll, eastern manager of CPR
1915—Dick Arlen of Hollywood

Swimming Championship Set At Regatta

The Canadian northwest swimming championships held during the Kelowna Regatta annually draw competitors from all over Canada and the United States.

"In the past seven years we have seen a great surge of both interest and activity in the swimming events," said Robert Simpson, member of the committee arranging details concerning the swimming meet.

"This year, swimming clubs are registered from Oregon, Washington, British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan. We have individual entries from as far away as Louisiana," Mr. Simpson said.

All ages compete in events divided into divisions according to age and stroke.

The events are held every afternoon during the Regatta with final heats of some races during the night shows.

"Entries last year totalled 325. We anticipate a considerable increase this year, mainly because of increased interest in Alberta and Saskatchewan," said Mr. Simpson. "A hundred entries are from the United States alone."

The swimming championships this year are under the direction of a committee headed by Murray Joyce. Committee members are: Robert Simpson, Mel Barwick and Rosemary King.

FREE SWIMMING
Any youngster, whether from Kelowna or a visitor, has free aquatic privileges until he is 10.

GRIZZLY BEAR
The name Kelowna comes from an old Indian word meaning grizzly bear. This huge bear is of the Rocky Mountain range and is nearly extinct. It is found in the mountains throughout the valley.

Kelowna Aquatic Association One Cup Lacking Competitors

There are many trophies in competition at the Kelowna Regatta, many of them are very old, and because of the changing face of the Regatta, some of them are left off the list each year.

The KAA Challenge Cup is one of these. It was originally presented by the Kelowna Aquatic Association Ltd. in 1912 for competition among the membership. The winner had to come first in a 100 yard swimming race, taking his handicap into account.

Between 1912 and 1939 it missed only two years in the list of awards. Then during the war and immediately afterward it was forgotten and it has not been awarded since 1940.

Those whose names are engraved on the trophy are: 1912 H. M. Goode, 1913, W. H. Birrell, 1914, D. A. Hinkson, 1915, Ian Weddell, 1916, D. A. Hinkson, and there was no race in 1917.

In 1918 and 1919 it was won by Ralph Weddell, 1920 W. R. Foster, 1921 B. Davis, 1922 and 1923 V. D. Lewis, 1924, J. H. Williams, 1925, G. L. Leane, 1926, Colin MacLaren, 1927, Lloyd Williams, 1928, Don Leane, and in 1929, K. Griffith.

There was another gap in 1930, and in 1931 H. Anderson, 1932 J. Thompson, 1933 H. Anderson, and H. Ryan won it in 1934 and 1935.

In 1936, R. D. Knox, 1937, D. L. Pettigrew, 1938, E. Ryan and in 1939 it was won again by D. L. Pettigrew.

In 1941, Roger Tait, 1942, Tony Griffin, 1943, Grant Fumerton, 1944, Glen Mervyn, 1945, George Burmeister, 1947, Ted Pelly and Spook Bennett has his name in the last spot for winning the trophy in 1940.

Kelowna has an active little theatre group that presents at least four plays a year. Kelowna Musical Productions on the other hand presents musicals.

"A VERY SINCERE THANK YOU..."

For the second consecutive year, it has been my privilege to act as General Chairman for the annual Kelowna International Regatta. This is the 57th Regatta in Kelowna and it gives me a great deal of satisfaction to announce that, without question, this year's show is the biggest we have ever succeeded in presenting. There is, literally, something for every member of the family to see and enjoy.

All this, however, could never come about without the dedicated efforts of hundreds of Regatta workers. The Committee Chairmen, the Committee Members and the many, many other than seeing a good job done. To these time and talents with no expectation of reward, other than seeing a good job done. To these tireless toilers, may I extend my deep personal gratitude. It is my wish you get as much enjoyment and satisfaction out of the job as I do.

LEN LEATHLEY,
General Chairman.

Help Us Keep Our Forests Green

Both tourists and industry harvest the benefits from our beautiful forests. The tourists have the enjoyment of camping, fishing and hunting in the forest's fresh, tranquil atmosphere. The forest industry keeps people employed year round by harvesting the trees and producing products for your use. Let's keep our forests green so future generations may enjoy our natural heritage.

LADY-OF-THE-LAKE contest is the focal point of the annual Regatta in Kelowna. Not only is the parade of the most beautiful young women in Kelowna a striking spectacle, but the winning girl has an important job to do during the following year. Beauty alone is not the most important attribute for the winner. Over long months, interested people give the girls training so the Lady-of-the-Lake might do credit to the city of Kelowna. It is she, next to the mayor, who carries the city's good name to visitors, to important functions, and often on tours of faraway places. She must be a public speaker, she must be a "lady" in every sense of the word, she must be interested in furthering the community. There is high honor and pride in the Lady and her two Ladies-in-Waiting, but she earns every accolade. This past spring the current Lady-of-the-Lake was unable to make a trip to the prairies and one of her Ladies-in-Waiting took over. When the letters started coming back, each one paid tribute to the acting queen. Kelowna is proud of them and their efforts. This year there are nine candidates. The new Lady-of-the-Lake will be crowned at a huge spectacular on the first night of the 57th annual Regatta.

Sheena Ferworm, 18, will represent the Kiwanis club. She is the daughter of Mr. E. Ferworm and the late Mr. Ferworm. Tall, with brown eyes and hair, Sheena is in Grade XII and plans to become an art and home economics teacher. She has lived in Kelowna for the past eight years. Her hobbies are art, cooking and sewing and she is cheerleader for the Kelowna High school basketball team.

Karen Thompson, 17, is tall, brown haired and will represent the Kelowna Gyrus club in the Lady-of-the-Lake contest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Thompson. A native daughter, she is in grade XII and plans to attend nursing school and later UBC. Her hobbies are water sports and sewing and she is especially interested in student council work.

Carol Would, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Would will represent the Rutland Chamber of Commerce. Of medium height with blue eyes and golden hair, this native daughter of Kelowna is 16 years old, in Grade XI and she plans to become a dental assistant. Her hobbies are sewing, cooking, swimming and music, and she is a member of the high school glee club and band.

Maureen Duck, 16, represents the Kelowna Lions club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duck. Maureen has lived in Kelowna for the past four years. She is tall, with dark brown hair and eyes. She is in grade XI and plans to become a nurse. Her hobbies are water sports and music, and she is a member of the Canadian Girls in Training from which she will graduate this year.

Brenda Briese, small, attractive, brown-eyed, brown haired, who will represent Teen Town, is the daughter of Weng Commander and Mrs. C. E. Briese. Sixteen years old and in grade XI she has lived in Kelowna for the past year and a half and is a princess of B.C.'s Teen Town. Her hobbies are water skiing and swimming and she plans to attend UBC.

Patricia Buckland, pretty, tall, grey-eyed, brown-haired, who will represent Rotary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Buckland of Okanagan Mission. A native daughter, she is 17 years old, in grade XII and plans to become a chartered accountant. Her hobbies are riding, tennis and badminton.

Lisa Bryan, 20, tall with greenish hazel eyes and golden brown hair, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bryan of North Vancouver and has lived in Kelowna for the past 10 months. She is a Bank of Montreal staffer. Lisa will represent the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Kelowna Aquatic. Her hobbies are horseback riding, playing the guitar and reading and she plans to study art at the Los Angeles Art Centre.

Frances Turk, who will represent the Kinsmen Club plans to become a dental assistant. Tall, with golden brown hair and brown eyes, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.

M. Turk and has lived in Kelowna for the past 10 years. Frances is 18 years old and in grade XI and her hobbies are swimming, cooking, music and cheer leading. She is also secretary of the senior students' council and president of the Catholic Youth Organization.

Janet Clarke, who will represent the Royal Canadian Legion, is the daughter of A. R. Clarke and the late Mrs. Clarke of Kelowna. A native daughter, Janet is of medium height, has reddish blonde hair and blue-green eyes. She is 16 years old, in grade XI and plans to become a social worker. A member of Job's Daughters, her hobbies are sewing, cooking and skating and she teaches Sunday school at St. Michael and All Angels' church.

PARKING

Kelowna parking arrangements are unique. There are no parking meters, but one-hour parking on city streets is well enforced. The city has two large areas in the downtown area for free parking. A new motel in the downtown area is planned for 1964 and whereas soil tests and other preliminary work is being done on the land, a sign says out-of-town cars are welcome to park there. That's the Kelowna spirit!

FLAG DECKED

Flags are erected on light standards on Bernard Ave. for every special occasion.

Versatile Kelowna Float City Works Crew's "Baby"

By Peter Munro
Daily Courier City Editor

Kelowna's versatile float will be making its appearance again this year in the Thursday Regatta parade. This award-winning exhibit will be piloted by its main creator, designer, builder and top booster, Hugh McCormick.

Mr. McCormick is an employee of the City of Kelowna public works department, and when he speaks of "our float," it means something very dear to him. It could be said, and was by Regatta secretary, "That float is Hugh's baby."

It was just one year ago last spring when the float was designed after drawings were made by Lloyd Dowler, former draftsman at city hall. It was designed to fit on the chassis of the city's old Ogopogo float.

Hugh was put in charge of the assembly and Henry Young and other co-employees helped. They contributed many of their own hours to this project. "These boys put a lot of time and effort into this float," said Mr. McCormick.

"The materials used in the decoration of the float are white petal paper from the U.S. with heavy blue foil on cheesecloth. The main creator, designer, builder and top booster, Hugh McCormick, is a three inch circular festooning paper on trim between the white and blue, and a gold fringe 18 inches long wadded to one-half inch cloth on the bottom.

MAP

"The back of the float shows a map of the Valley and Okanagan Lake with Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton pinpointed. Across the top of the map in large letters is British Columbia. It is self-propelled, and has places for three riders in sea-shells, usually filled by girls representing Kelowna or Valley towns depending on where the float is on show.

CO-OPERATION

Although it is primarily a Kelowna float and is used as such in Valley events like the Regatta parade, Penticton Peach Festival, Vernon Winter Carnival and other similar events, when attending outside the points it is a Valley float and expenses are shared by the other two valley cities.

Names of the riders and slogans are lettered on plywood boards and are interchangeable. There are special city and Valley slogans.

The riders take up positions in the sea shells and each hold reins to separate sea-borers which moves back and forth on the float.

Responsible for the mechanical details of the moving sea-borers and any other mechanical chores is Ray Barber, foreman and his city mechanics.

ITINERY

The itinerary of this float since its conception is impressive. The first trip was just after completion last spring to celebrations in Osoyoos. Next it travelled to the 1962 Calgary Stampede in July and in August to the P.N.E. at Vancouver.

This year it has already been to Prince George in May, for the Kinsmen convention. In June it participated in Kamloops Indian Days celebrations and has just returned from the Calgary Stampede and the week-long Edmonton Exhibition, where it was the only self-propelled float in the parade.

"Our float has garnered many trophies and awards in its travels," said Mr. McCormick. "At Edmonton it won the Safe-way trophy and won fourth prize at this year's Calgary Stampede. Last year it took the first Grand Sweepstakes prize at Penticton's Peach Festival."

"At last year's P.N.E. it came up with second prize for B.C. communities but perhaps the crowning glory came this June when it placed first at Kamloops Indian Days defeating the new P.N.E. float. It has also taken first place honors at Vernon and Armstrong festivals as the best decorated float."

Hugh McCormick has taken it on all its trips and has had an assistant accompany him, but on the last three trips his copilot has been his working partner John Born.

It may seem that Hugh and his helpers have sacrificed a lot to make this project a source of pride to Kelowna but it's almost a safe bet to say they undoubtedly derive a great amount of satisfaction and pleasure from the accomplishment.

Kelowna has the oldest radio station in the Okanagan. It was established at 2:50 p.m. November 4, 1931. It was formerly 10AY an amateur station under the direction of George Dunn.

Kelowna is the television centre of the Okanagan. The station was opened on September 1957 and has 13 satellites covering the area from Revelstoke to Princeton.

ONE OF THE MORE breathtaking acts regularly seen at recent Regattas is the kite man flying on water skis. Rated as one of the most dangerous water sports, only skilled skiers are allowed to attempt the feat. Three men will put on daily shows of kiting during the 1969 Regatta.

Flying On Skis 'Most Dangerous'

By BOB BAUER
Of The Daily Courier Staff

Aside from hydroplane racing, water-ski kiting has proved to be the most dangerous water sport today, and spectators thrill to the daring of the performers.

Three top-notch water skiers from the Kelowna Aqua Ski Club will perform this highly-touted feat at this year's 57th International Regatta.

Bill Gaddes, Gerry Mills and Barry Black, president of the club, have been kiting for the last two years.

KITE KILLED

The idea of kiting was introduced to the Kelowna Regatta spectators six years ago by the late George Quinn of Everett, Washington. Three years later he was fatally injured in a kiting demonstration over Lake Chelan, Washington.

A trophy in his memory is awarded each year to the veteran ski-jumping champion of the Regatta.

Only top-notch water skiers should consider the sport. The kite is also something people should not attempt to build in their own backyard.

The kite is 15 feet long and 11 feet wide, made of dacron sail and aluminum steel tubing. It weighs approximately 40 pounds.

LONG ROPE

The kite is attached to the tow-boat by a 170 foot long polyethylene rope and reaches speeds up to 35 miles per hour.

Kiting should not be attempted in winds over 15 miles per hour to eliminate possible injuries.

The skier controls the kite by holding a 30-inch wide swivel handle through which the kite is properly balanced.

SKILL, STAMINA

Kiting requires a great deal of skill and stamina.

As the kite reaches higher altitude it changes its angle into the wind and the skier is required to balance it evenly to prevent it from tilting sideways and falling straight down. The kite-man does not fly higher than one-third the length of the tow-rope, otherwise the kite will get too level and will not catch sufficient wind to keep it upright.

The tow-boat travels in a straight line with the kite flying directly into the wind and eliminating the possibility of overturning the kite in a cross-wind.

Two people are required in the tow-boat, the driver and a safety man who relays signals from the kite-man to the boat operator.

LANDING

When the kite-man is ready to land he signals the safety man who notifies the driver to decrease his speed rapidly, allowing the kite to descend fairly fast until reaching a height of about 25 feet above the water. At this point the boat increases its speed slowly and slows the kite movement while the skier sets down on the water.

When the kite-man is ready to stop, the boat stops completely and the rope is disconnected from the kite by means of a quick snap release, operated by the kite-man.

Paddle Board Sequences Spark Water Ballet Show

By BEN CARMAN
Managing Editor
Of The Daily Courier

The only paddle board water ballet act in Canada is a highly featured of the Kelowna Regatta.

Fall Fashions With The Jury

NEW YORK (AP)—The fall fashion case rests with the jury as some of the best known designers in the United States closed press week activities by presenting their own new style ideas.

The jury—some 125 fashion writers—went home Tuesday to report their judgments after a five-day review of best season's collections.

At a closing dinner, the dean of couturiers, Norman Norell, offered a sampling of the fall and winter collections.

As a consequence, airport and railway lounges may be filled with troupered women. For Norell's most startling innovation was the traveling costume—sleeveless, creased slacks, tailored jacket, an easy jersey tunic in camel color and a skirt to replace the pants once the lady has reached her destination.

Newest dress silhouette in the Norell collection is long and flat topped with a peplum-like skirt. This line is repeated in coats, jumpers with V-necks and to the floor in evening wear.

WARDROBE OF LUXURY

Count Baroni probably presented the most opulent wardrobe, including little black dresses with $3,000 diamond buttons from Tiffany's, and dramatic velvet attire clothes with sweeping skirts and Asian patterns.

John Moore's forte was the little black dress, slim and fluid and sometimes bare. Easy cocktail jackets with kimono-like sleeves, fringed with tinsel, jet beads covered otherwise demure and sober crepe dresses.

Jane Derby remained faithful to the feminine body beautiful. Her jackets were short and cropped over straight skirts. Dresses were figure skimmers, and ball gowns gathered to a tight bodice followed a simple princess line.

Gustave Tassell, a favorite of President Kennedy's wife, indicated that he was as much a milliner as a couturier. Highlights of his collection were a postman's cape and cap, floppy white British bobby caps, and smooth-domed turbans with snowdrop veil.

LONG LAKE

Okanagan Lake is 80 miles long and all of it is suitable for swimming, boating, fishing. Before the coming of rail and road, it was the main avenue of commerce for the valley. It is also the home of Osoyoos, a denizen of the deep, who is supposed to live at Squally Point.

MRS. JOAN NAGEL

Brought here 13 years ago by Margaret Horton, when she first began to direct the water shows, the paddle board dancers have been perpetuated by Mrs. Joan Nagel who has directed the show for the past seven years. They wear colorful water shoes on the wooden paddle boards and they are only two.

"We have from 12 to 16 boards with from 12 to 16 girls in the act," said Mrs. Joan Nagel. "No one else uses as many and I think they provide a very effective vehicle for the act."

SHORT TIME

Kelowna is handicapped because we can only train the girls for approximately two months. Particularly this year when the weather has been so good and the wind has been so high—why the girls have been very busy seeking out some outdoors.

In order to do a proper synchronized swimming show, all the girls have to train at least six months. The girls here do a wonderful job in the time at their disposal. A year-round pool with proper instruction would make so much difference."

DESIGNED HERE

The paddle boards were designed by Gordon Jensen, who is now the attendant at the Kelowna Seaplane base, and built by him.

They are eight feet long and two and a half feet wide. Made of a plywood shell with styrofoam poured into them, they each weigh 40 pounds and are pushed by girls using swim fins. The pushers this year are all from 10 to 16 years old and the riders range from 14 to 18 years.

MANY RETURN

"Some of the girls have been working on the troupe each year since I started, but generally most of them are new each year. All their time is donated and they must spend three hours a day in practice."

"They contribute a great deal to the show. As soon as they can get a job for the summer they most of course discontinue their training," said Mrs. Nagel.

The lighting for the show, comparable to any top grade ice show, is staged by experts from Vancouver. Dave Morris used to handle the lighting each year, but he died recently.

Mrs. Nagel designed the more than 150 costumes needed. They are made by a group including Bill Jensen, Mrs. Rene Van Montford and Mrs. Nagel Art Vanden, under the direction of Mrs. Nagel, taped the music fitted it to timed synchronized swimming stunts.

Each show is different.

WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday night, for the first time, this year, the climax of the night, the crowning of the new Lady-of-the-Lake, is tied in with the water ballet.

The program will include a small boat number with girls from seven to 13 years swimming the parts entitled the Ballet of the Crown Jewels. Mrs. Nagel will do a solo dressed as a mermaid and then the big number is the Rainbow Ballet with 12 paddle boards under black light.

THURSDAY

Thursday night the show begins with the Ballet Maritime, with 12 girls swimming the number in matching patterns. Miss Karin Gelling will swim a solo number entitled Haida Thunderbolt and the paddle board number will be entitled Ben H. Haid (Oswell) who is in charge of the staging, has supervised a mammoth venture for this number and is expected to be completely alone during the show.

LAST TWO

The Friday and Saturday night shows are basically similar with an undercover act or two standing by.

During each of these nights Mrs. Nagel will again do some work entitled Jungle Goddess. The first paddle board number will be entitled Latin Review and the paddle girls will then do a Ballet in Silver to round off the act.

Miss Gelling is a member of the CVC Sprites in Vancouver and trains all year round with Mrs. Nagel. Both these swimmers use most synchronized swimming stunts during their solos.

"Basically the show is similar to the chorus line acts in dancing," said Mrs. Nagel. "I am most pleased with the work the girls put into the show, they are a grand group to work with."

We Have a Spectacular Water Show, Too!

J. W. Bedford Ltd. New Sand and Gravel Washing Plant

Our water show isn't near as large or as popular as the Regatta . . . but we do have something completely new to offer!

J. W. Bedford Ltd. now supplies the residents and contractors of Kelowna and district with completely washed sand and gravel for use in building through the use of their new wash plant. This gigantic washing machine puts on quite a "water show" as sand and gravel is completely washed and graded in one simple operation. All dirt and impurities are removed to make a stronger base for mortar and concrete. This is becoming a "must" in modern engineering and Bedford's are keeping pace with the times to better serve their customers.

If you have a spare moment, it is worth the drive to see this gigantic washing machine in action. We'll be glad to see you and explain the many advantages of our washed sand and gravel.

War Canoes Race Twice

Boat races were responsible for the first Regatta in 1906. Faded pictures show crowded beaches lined with onlookers as the water events got under way.

The scene is not unlike today, as the city park promenade becomes jammed with cheering figures, shouting encouragement to furiously-paddled war canoes.

This year's war canoe races are scheduled for Friday and Saturday, August 2 and 3.

Competition will be keen, as always, when the race begins at the old ferry slip two blocks north of the Yacht Club, and continues due west, terminating at the west side of the Aquatic.

Your crews will participate in the races, junior boys and junior girls teams from Vernon and Kelowna.

Each crew will contain 16 members, who have practised since the end of June to perfect co-ordination and synchronization of movement.

"The war canoe races have always been featured in the Regatta. In the 1930's the entire Okanagan used to compete for the Valley's championship."

"The only requirements for participant in the event is that each participant be able to swim 20-30 yards in case of 'spilling,'" said Bob Simpson, official co-ordinator of Regatta water events.

Trophy Winners List Impressive

Attending to the importance of the annual Kelowna Regatta, there are 108 cups and trophies up for competition each year. During the 1968 Regatta 31 of these were not awarded. They are not given away lightly. In some cases there were no competitors in that particular class. The 1968 list of winners was:

Grand McNish Cup—Senior men three metre diving (CNW), Paul Wiltz, 13657 6th Ave. S.W. Seattle, Wash.

Olympic Cup—Ladies three metre diving (CNW), Carol Anne Morrow, 1321 12th Street, Ocean Park, B.C.

Weather Damp At 1913 Regatta

By ART GRAY

The Kelowna Regatta of fifty years ago, listed as the "Fiftieth Annual", held August 19th and 20th, 1913, was the first one to run into shivery weather according to The Courier reports.

"Regatta weather" had been a byword for fine sunny days but while the weatherman had not delivered his usual superb forecast for the occasion, the fine drizzle failed to dampen the enthusiasm and was interspersed with rainless periods.

The winds, which blew at times, and then dropped to a dead calm, played hob with the sailing races, and cut the time on some events that happened to come when the water was rough.

This particular Regatta was, in the main, much like all the others held in those years, but did see the introduction of two new features that have since become integral parts of the Regatta programme.

OUTRIGGERS

The first one was the appearance of four-oar outrigger shells, with sliding seats, which The Courier states "created quite a lot of interest among the spectators, as nothing of the kind had been seen before on Okanagan Lake."

There were two events involving these new shells, the Junior rowing fours, run off on the first day, with entries from the British North America Tobacco Co. (BNATCO), and a No. 1 and No. 2 crews entered by the Kelowna Rowing Club. KRC No. 1 was the winning crew (D. Barnes, W. Renne, H. M. Goode, H. Hyland), KRC No. 2 next (A. E. Scott, R. Williams, J. E. Loyd, C. H. Taylor).

The senior rowing fours contest was on the 2nd day with entries from the KRC, BNATCO, and the Fire Brigade, and they finished in that order, the Firemen coming a not too good third in this new-fangled rowing race. Only the names of the winning crew are listed. They were W. Hill (bow), McDonald, Buchanan, Slater (stroke). The course was 1 1/2 miles and the time 11 minutes.

PARADE

The other innovation was a other time than the previous year. In 2nd place was B. G. out, the previous year's winner, 3rd was E. W. Leggat and in Gordon Stirling.

Other first day events worth noting were the 50 yards men's breast stroke, a close race with J. J. Foot 1st, A. Edwards 2nd and J. F. Burns, 3rd. For three cars previously Edward and Burns had tied for 1st in this category.

The City Band marched at the head, playing martial music, but followed by only six decorated cars, one motorcycle and two "push" bikes.

The first prize went to J. M. Harvey, whose car was decorated with Golden Glow Sunflowers which with the black shiny body of the car gave the effect of the Kelowna cokes, "black and gold," we are told. This is the first reference to a change from the former "yellow".

The 2nd prize went to H. Hillard, his car having a platform erected on it, decorated with greenery, and with a group of Boy Scouts around a camp fire and tripod, with an actual fire. This was, without doubt, the very first time this had been done, but it very definitely was not the last!

The first prize for bikes went to Alex Smith, on a motorcycle, attired as a Court Jester with cap, bells, mask and motley black and yellow costume. (Alex had not heard that yellow was "out" and gold was "in", it seems).

The two bike riders, pedal type, were William Easton on a bike with a full rigged sailing boat, the "Sunny Okanagan", in the centre of which he sat and navigated the bicycle.

"Master" Rodney Keller, the report states, was a patriotic bike-rider with costume made of flags of the Empire—as befitting a future General in His Majesty's Canadian Army!

PRELIMINARIES

Apart from these two aforementioned new features, the 1913 Regatta ran through much the same routine, the first day being devoted to preliminary heats, but there were some items completed, or held only that day, including the mile swim across Okanagan Lake.

The "Clovelly" took six competitors across to the west side, of whom four finished, the winner being M. Roxy, his time being 30 mins., 22 seconds, a doing the honors. Championship of the Regatta, a handsome oak and silver shield, was won for the 5th time by Archie Edwards, son-in-law of ex-Mayor Kaymer, with 16 points, his highest ever. F. J. Foot came 2nd with 51 points.

The Kelowna City Band, in their natty new uniforms, supplied the music for the Regatta both days, and were "generous with their music, and enabled the Regatta committee to dispense with imported music for the first time in several years," we are told. With the playing of "The Maple Leaf Forever" and "God Save the King" they brought to a close the 1913 Regatta.

The programme concluded, wine-giving followed, with the hostess, Mrs. J. W. Jones, and the ladies' 50 yard swim saw Miss Dykes place 1st, Miss McDougall 2nd, and Miss Marjorie Locke 3rd. The big excitement of the 2nd day was, of course, the War Canoe race for the Megaw Cup, 1 mile and turn, with Kelowna winning out against Peachland in a hard fought battle, to the great jubilation of the Kelowna supporters, who, the report states "gave the Kelowna 'braves' and their redoubtable 'Chief', Max Jenkins, an ovation."

MAYORESS

The programme concluded, wine-giving followed, with the hostess, Mrs. J. W. Jones,

Four Swimmers Coming From Edmonton YMCA Pool

The Edmonton YMCA is sending four of its top swimmers to compete in the 1953 Kelowna Regatta.

Bob Kasting, the leading swimmer, is the holder of 16 Canadian age group records, two of them earned during the 1952 Kelowna Regatta. He was a member of the Canadian team to the 1953 age group, all-star meet in Detroit. He won many races in operation Tokyo.

Liz Carruthers, 11, the only girl in the group, specializes in diving, tumbling and trampolines work. At this year's Edmonton age group gym championships she won first in the vaulting and first in the free calisthenics and first in tumbling. She won second in this year's southern Alberta provincial diving championship. She also took second in the Alberta YMCA's group championships. In the 1953 Alberta Tyro gym championships she won first in the trampoline and second in the tumbling contests.

Thirteen year old Eddy Bridges is a diving and speed skating champion. He won first in this year's Albert YMCA age group diving championships. He is champion in both the Alberta and Dominion speed skating, won last winter. In both 1950-51 and 1951-52 he won the Dominion speed skating championship for his age group.

Mickey Prefontaine, 12, is a newcomer to the group for he has only been diving competitively for the last six months. He is now the Alberta YMCA age

SPECTACULAR PYRAMID SHOW HIGHLIGHT

A great many people work very hard for many weeks in Kelowna just for the entertainment of visitors to the annual Regatta. The Aqua Ski Club in addition to participating in the contests for jumping, trick sailing and slalom races, also spend many hours on other stunts. It takes genuine skill and stamina to perform the pyramid, here illustrated by (top left to right) Frances, Peter and Diane Nichols and (bottom, left to right) Dan West, Len Weider and Barrie Black. The girls start out riding a single ski, the men squat down and the girls put their free foot on the men's thigh, kick off their own ski, stand on the men's thighs, then sit on their shoulders and from there stand up. One of the girls carries the flag in her teeth until they get balanced. During last year's regatta Frances carried the flag.

Renowned Experts Appearing In Clown Diving Numbers

By PETER MUNOZ
Daily Courier City Editor

Clown diving is one of the highlights of any water show and the 1963 Kelowna Regatta will be no exception.

Youngsters, more than anyone, get the biggest thrill from the clown's antics. Just the sight of them climbing the tower brings forth bursts of gay and heart-warming laughter from the young folk, and from many adults too, though some of us try to suppress this impulse.

BUFFOON

This type of light entertainment always seems to hold a crowd's attention and what more than the rigormortis-pose of a water buffoon as he plummets downward.

This year's Regatta diving stars promise a whole new comedy routine. Dr. George Athans, head of the diving committee, guarantees something new and different in comedy relief. Three of the world's top divers will combine their experience to provide laughter to young and old.

THE CAST

Heading the trio will be Chuck Bates, considered the world's foremost aquatic clown. He is now diving coach at Harvard University. President Kennedy's alma mater, and is also a member of the All-American diving team.

Don Mann from Texas will also contribute to the shenanigans. He is a top notch diver and now is world's trampoline champion, as well as being the diving champ of South Africa.

Rounding out the threesome will be old Kelowna favorite Eddy Cole. Eddy hails from Ann Arbor, Michigan and is rated as the best acrobatic diver in the world today. He is also a stand-out performer on the trampoline as his past Regatta performances testify. In his previous appearances here he has always been hilarious in his comedy diving antics.

Although new routines are forthcoming, one sort of hopes a little bit of the old comedy will be carried over.

Probably most of us never get tired of the many antics even if we did see them last year and the year before. Some of them are like the old standard songs, you just never tire of them in moderate dosage.

EXCITEMENT

Who will dispute the double barreled humor of two clowns in near perfect unison leaving the tower heading for the obvious belly-flop or three of them pulling out all the stops. Excitement, President Kennedy's ment seems to run rampant, not only among the performers but among the audience as well. The fact these men are experienced champion divers makes the comedy aspect that much greater. Nothing is perhaps more important to the comedy field than timing and these divers possess that quality.

Circus Visit Near Fatal

SANTA SUSANA, Calif. (AP) — Four-year-old Lyn Seely's trip to the circus was a terrifying one.

The girl is in danger of losing her hand after she petted a bear Friday and the animal grabbed her arm.

Dr. Elliot Harris said: "We won't know until we take off the bandages at the end of the critical time period of 48 to 72 hours."

The child's mother, Mrs. Ivy Seely, tried to pull the child free. Steve Pelter ran to the cage armed with a piece of pipe. He struck the bear repeatedly until it let go of the child's arm.

Dr. Harris labored for four hours putting the torn flesh together with more than 200 stitches.

Lyn's index finger was ripped off, tendons of all the fingers torn away and muscles and veins in the wrist and forearm were chewed through, the doctor said.

Her mother said Lyn ducked under a sawhorse and put her hand into the Himalayan bear's cage.

Fancy Skiing To Thrill Crowd

Two major water ski events will highlight the Thursday program of the 1963 Kelowna Regatta.

Both these Western Canadian Open Water Ski Championships and the Okanagan Closed Water Ski Championships are held this day.

Spectators from parts of Canada and the United States are expected to enter this year's competition including jumping slalom and trick skiing.

STARS

Frank Fletcher, of Everett, Washington, one of the two persons to organize the jump competitions eight years ago, will again attend this year's Regatta along with his son-in-law Chuck Lee and his two daughters.

Another performer of past Regattas, six-year old Jimmy Via, famous for his turnabouts on one ski, will also attend, along with the Madley family from Sammamish, Washington.

JUNIORS

Several junior skiers from Lake Stevens, Washington, Victoria, Vancouver, Deep Cove, Mission Junction, Vernon, Calgary and Edmonton will also participate.

The jumping competitions will take place all day Thursday in front of the Aquatic Pool, commencing at 10 a.m.

Slalom will start out from in front of the Aquatic circle and come in for their jump. Each contestant is given three jumps and is judged on the best two out of the three.

These are five jump classes:

children, boys', girls', men's, women's and veterans'.

FIVE FOOT HIGH

In jumping competitions all classes excepting the men, jump over a five foot high jump 24 feet long and 12 feet wide. The maximum speed a boat can operate at is limited to 20 miles per hour.

The men are required to jump over six foot high jumps with the low boat limited to a maximum speed of 15 miles per hour. Top jumpers, with their cuts, hit speeds up to 40 and 60 miles per hour and record jumps of 100 feet and more.

DOUBLE SPEED

A "cut" is made when a skier turns across the low boat's wake doubling his speed.

Three judges will decide the year's competition. Dr. Ken Geiss, of Kelowna, will act as chief judge. Each judge allows the jumper a maximum of 10 points for approach, on the ramp and in the air, and for landing on the water.

Trophies for the open event are: Men's overall competition, Kelowna Water trophy; Men's overall, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis West trophy; Boys' overall, McCall trophy; Girls' overall, Simpson's trophy; Veterans' overall, George Quinn memorial trophy.

Five trophies being competed for in the Okanagan closed championship include: Men's overall, Ritchie Brothers trophy; Women's overall, Shop Easy trophy; Boys' overall, Bill Jackson trophy; Girls' overall, Long Super Drugs trophy; Veterans' overall, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nicholls trophy.

Someone went to a good deal of work setting up about ten Red Ensigns at the Aquatic and around the Okopogo grandstand. Certainly caught the eye.

SPARKLING FLAGPAST OPENS POOL EVENTS

ence. Towed at high speed, the popping of the flags can easily be heard in the stands. Each swimmer wears a lifejacket; these people are experts and they too follow the rules. — (Eric Hayes Photo)

Kelowna Regatta History Colorful

First a one-day spring race. That briefly summarizes the Kelowna Regatta history. Then, some swimmers and long and colorful career of Kelowna's International Regatta. The 11th edition promises to be a big one, with a new cream was added by equal, if not surpassing, any of its predecessors. The 11th edition promises to be a big one, with a new cream was added by equal, if not surpassing, any of its predecessors. The 11th edition promises to be a big one, with a new cream was added by equal, if not surpassing, any of its predecessors.

A year later the proposal for boat races. Comedy was thrown into the mix after a public meeting in the popular "grease pole" and a special committee consisting of H. B. Lyons, L. A. Awa, G. H. Pinner, Frank DeHart, J. W. A. L. McLeod, W. M. Crawford, J. Bowes, F. A. Taylor, F. E. W. W. and H. Hardman promoted the way for the start of Kelowna's annual summer event. Around 1909 it was decided to form a permanent body to direct the Regatta and later water sports. And the Kelowna Aquatic Association Ltd. was born. A total of 400 shares valued at $25 each formed the capital of the company totaling $10,000. The members of the organization all subscribed heavily and an electric canvas and sufficient shares to enable the building of the first structure on the lake shore of city park. This property is still used today under lease from the city. George C. Rose, then editor of the Courier, who first conceived the idea of an annual water show was elected the first president of the organization. The new premises were formally opened in August, 1909. In 1910 a grandstand was erected at a cost of $1,450. It could seat 800 people. WARTIME The war took a heavy toll. It has been said that more men per capita from Kelowna were in the armed forces than in any other town in Canada. Due largely to lack of contestants, the show reverted to a one-day affair in 1915. At the end of hostilities the two-day gala was resumed. The succeeding years gave an indication of what was to come and by 1920 the directors saw the grandstand had to be extended. A 30-foot extension was added at a cost of $1,450. The silver anniversary was marked in 1931. Improvements were made to the bathhouse at a cost of $1,000. This year also marked the first appearance of H. F. Parkinson on the directorate. INTEREST FLAGE At this stage there were signs that something was wrong. Membership had decreased. Interest had flagged and activity had dropped. A group was determined that something should be done quickly. Up to this time dances were held every fortnight, but in 1932 it was decided to make them a weekly affair. Two years later war broke out and this posed a problem to the Aquatic Club similar to that which had to be faced years later in 1940. After considerable debate directors felt to break the continuity of the water shows would be a fatal mistake. The string might never be picked up again. Little did they realize they were setting a precedent for the directors of 1940. RENAME EXECUTIVE An extraordinary general meeting was called for June 7, 1935, to hear a report from a special committee which was empowered to investigate the Aquatic Club. The committee proposed that the directorate of the limited company be reduced to three, to be elected by the shareholders, and in addition, an advisory council of five be chosen by ordinary active members, who did not have stock. The proposal was readily accepted.

DIVER, HILLS, SAILBOAT

The Athens Diving Tower at Osoyoos Pool is the focal point of much of the action at the annual Kelowna Regatta. Mike Brown, one of the versatile Brown family of Kelowna, is caught by the photographer as he begins a one-and-a-half from the ten meter board. The hills on the opposite side of the lake and the passing sailboat add to the scene. Some of the best divers in the west will appear in exhibition at the 57th annual Regatta beginning July 31. (Eric Hayes Photo)

REGATTA HISTORY COLORFUL . .

Flushed with a patriotic enthusiasm, they adopted an attitude seen nowhere else in the country.

They decided that all profits made by the Regatta would go into the war effort. For a few years profits were given as a straight gift to the federal treasury for war purposes. For a couple of years they went to specific war charities. In all, over $10,000 was distributed.

During this year, too, the policy of naming the Regatta each year was adopted, and the events in the "early forties" carried such names as "Victory," "On To Victory."

BIG TIME

It was during this period that the Kelowna Regatta moved into the "big time." More and more outside swimmers appeared. U.S. stars found Kelowna an ideal spot. Coast swimmers came in increasing numbers. Eastern Canada began to pay attention to the little upstart from the west.

To accommodate the high calibre competition, the pool was enlarged from 25 yards to the regulation 50 yards, and the diving tower made "standard." Kelowna Aquatic slowly moved into position as "largest annual aquatic water show in Canada."

Up to 1919 the Regatta had been run by the Aquatic directorate. This year a change was made and the executive was split into two groups—one to function as Aquatic committee while R. F. Parkinson was named head of the Regatta group.

INCORPORATION

Around 1911, another major change was made in the setup of the association. The limited company was completely dissolved. For years it had hardly functioned as such and it was considered advisable to change to a society incorporated under the societies' act. The consent of the shareholders was readily obtained.

It was also during the 30's that the dates of the Regatta were changed to near the second week of August. Records showed old man weather was invariably in a good frame of mind at this time of year. In only one instance—1948—has it rained continuously during the show.

In 1955 the Regatta was extended to three days. In 1959 for the first time the Regatta ran into five days. During the 1950's major renovations were made to the aquatic plant, including a "new look" to the ballroom, tea room, lounge and various rooms underneath the grandstand.

ADDITIONS

In 1958 an addition was made to the tea room, and the portion of the dining room overlooking the water was removed to make way for more seats.

The Regatta has grown through the years from a small city effort into a spectacular featuring the appearance of such Hollywood stars as Guy Mitchell who sang during two evening performances last year.

This year the program will live up to its past history.

Many Fish Found In Okanagan

Okanagan Lake, well-stocked with trout and kokanee, weighing up to 20 pounds has yielded many fighting beauties.

But the regatta-famous lake must be wooed and won. It is a moody body of water, the fish are there, but oftentimes the utmost in fishing guile is required to lure them.

On other occasions, particularly in the early morning hours and at sun-down, your line will "sing" with a strike before you are minutes underway.

Since the construction of the $7,500,000 Okanagan Lake bridge, fishing in the bay immediately north of the structure seems to be the most popular. It is not unusual for the more experienced fishermen to catch their limit every day, even in the hot weather.

Trotting seems to yield the most fish with spinner and worms being the most popular lure at this time of the year.

MOSQUITO CONTROL

Kelowna is understood to be the first city in Canada to adopt a complete mosquito control program. Residents in outlying areas also contribute to the fund and in return the rural districts are sprayed.

SPECIAL APPEARANCE

The nine Lady-of-the-Lake candidates made a special pre-Regatta appearance for the public at the Aquacades on Tuesday, July 16, during the regular evening events at the Aquatic.

LARGEST MILL

The S. M. Simpson Co. in Kelowna operates the largest sawmill in the interior of British Columbia and also the largest plywood plant outside the coastal areas.

Gondola Race Name Used

A "Regatta" is an Italian

gondola race.

Originally, it applied to Venetian gondola races.

English usage and spelling varies not at all from that used by the good people of Venice to this day.

However, on this side of the Atlantic, the word now is applied to any important "or show" sailing or rowing race, in which a number of yachts, or boats, contend for prizes.

A look at the dictionary revealed something else to the Daily Courier staff.

ROWING

Rowing clubs can relate themselves directly to all things Icelandic and Swedish, through the term "sculling."

The word "scull" is from the Icelandic word "skel" which means a hollow, or from the Swedish word "skoll" also helped give birth to scull. Skol means "a bowl base, one of the scales of balance."

SWIMMING

"Sculling" also used in synchronized swimming, a major event at the Kelowna Regatta, is used to define swimming with only the hands moving. The hands of the swimmer, held at arms length with the elbows kept quite straight, is cupped and through a figure of eight movement of the hands, the body is propelled either forward or backward.

Sculling is used in many synchronized swimming figures and those who enter this most graceful sport spend many hours sculling up and down the pool.

HOT SANDS POPULAR MEETING PLACE IN KELOWNA

The "Hot Sands" at Kelowna, bordering city park in the middle of the downtown section are crowded most days under the clear Okanagan skies. In the background is Ogopogo Stadium, location of the major attractions at the Regatta. The stadium seats in excess of 8,000. The beach is noted for its shallow grade, allowing swimmers to wade out a great distance before they are over their depth. All city beaches are safe for children, because of this feature. If you get a little too much of the sun, shade trees are provided at intervals along the whole sand stretch. (Eric Hayes Photo)

Kelowna Setting Enhances Event

There is probably no sporting event in Canada staged in a setting more lovely than that of the Kelowna Regatta. The general tendency is for athletic fields to be located behind high board fences, but Kelowna is quite different.

PARK
The annual Regatta is staged in the centre of a beautiful park, rated as the finest of any city of its size in Canada.

There are few places where an arterial highway winds its way through an area where there is more natural beauty than the western approach to Kelowna.

There is nowhere in the British Commonwealth where a position bridge, with a lift span, overlooks such natural beauty.

Hollywood, with its penchant for making extraordinary technical extravaganzas, never conceived any setting more beautiful than that which nature, with a little help from man, has given Kelowna's Regatta.

It has its picturesque park, its sparkling blue Okanagan Lake, its pure white bridge, its ever-changing mountains and its clear blue sky above.

The park rockeries are a sight all summer long.

ROSES
The rose gardens, at their best in June, still add their color to the varied scene.

Everywhere you turn there is color in the park. The cool green grass underfoot, is plush and its wide expanse does credit to the work of the city parks department gardeners.

To reach the Aquatic, the centre of Regatta activities, you drive through the main entrance of the park and past the fine circular flower bed and down a winding avenue of trees and lawn.

Pedestrians stroll down the promenade, through a fine row of trees, with the sparkling lake on the right.

On the left of the promenade are flower boxes full of bloom and long stretches of carefully tended lawn.

Right in front of Ogopogo pool several hundred square feet of asphalt roadway is provided for parking. Immediately to the left is the park fountain, constructed in 1958 and the huge totem pole.

JUBILEE BOWL

Further on, towards the bridge, is the Jubilee Bowl, where band concerts and other attractions are featured.

In the extreme southern end of the park is Ogopogo Stadium, overlooking city park oval.

The park provides lawn bowling and outdoor checkers for the adults and a children's playground for the youngsters. There is a tennis court, parking grounds, good bathing beaches and a large athletic oval, home of cricket, football, track, soccer and other sports.

At the foot of Queenway Avenue, just north of the park, is the site of the former ferry wharf, that has now become a vista point and a fine launching site for private boats.

SWEEPING VIEW

Cars may park here and obtain a wide sweeping view of the lake and all its activities—the motorboats, water skiers, the railway tugs with their fruit-laden freight cars and perhaps even Ogopogo itself.

The view point is but a part of the city's quiet but effective program of city beautification, adding to the picture-queerness of the regatta setting.

Between the viewpoint and the park entrance is the senior citizens recreation room, regatta headquarters and the city museum, with both inside and outside displays.

Adventure Bay Place To Stay

By MARSH GALE

Regatta visitors from out-of-town, especially those heading north on Highway 97, might well stop and visit Adventure Bay Resort, a luxurious spa located in some of the most rugged, yet beautiful country the Okanagan Valley has to offer.

Opened only 15 months ago, Adventure Bay is the dream-child of Albrecht and Christa von Gadenstedt, a couple who searched vainly across Canada for a suitable location to build a year-round luxury resort. They found it on a rocky, tree-studded tip of land on the shores of Lake Okanagan, exactly 15 1/2 miles north of Vernon, B.C.

Finding the location and building a resort, however, were birds of a different feather. For one thing, there was no usable road leading to the site—at least no road that a tourist would travel. Secondly, Mr. von Gadenstedt was determined not to spoil the natural beauty of the place by removing trees, mountains, cliffs, or natural landmarks.

BUILT ROAD

He followed the only alternative: he built a three-mile black-topped road into his location and he spent untold thousands of dollars to design the entire establishment so nothing that nature had put there was disturbed.

The result is well worth the expenditure. As you drive to the top of a towering overhang of rock formation, nestled on your left, two hundred feet below, is Adventure Bay. Sweeping down into the parking area, you see 14 individual units right out of Hollywood. Each is equipped with its own living room, upstairs bedroom, kitchen, private balconied patio overlooking the lake and all manner of communication systems.

DINING ROOM

For the visitor who doesn't like preparing his own meals, there is a 40-seat community dining room, a hundred yards to the left of the private units. In the rear of this is a playroom complete with everything from a dart board to Canada sets. Adventure Bay really shines, however, in outdoor activities.

Mr. von Gadenstedt keeps a private float plane available for adventurous anglers who want to go "home place different." He personally flies guests to remote inland lakes where, according to informed sources, you can't pull your line out of the water without a fish on the end of it.

MANY DIVERSIONS

Other water sports guests may enjoy include water sailing, power boat cruises, over-water, skeet-shooting and, of course, swimming. The land around the resort itself offers some fascinating vacation fun, too. Nearby is the Ponderosa Ranch in which Mr. von Gadenstedt has an interest.

You can go horseback riding along trails which for sheer natural beauty are unrivalled the world over. If you'd rather go it alone, there are also miles upon square miles of forests and mountains.

One of the biggest tourist attractions is the purported gold mine on Adventure Bay's land. It's there to see—and explore, if you like.

BIGGEST WATER ATTRACTION
The resort is, of course, hunting. There is no question that deer, elk, moose, cougar and small game abound in its vast wilderness.

BARBECUE

At night, guests usually forsake the privacy of their units and congregate on the star-studded shores of Okanagan Lake for a refreshing drink and a community barbecue—occasionally cooked by the von Gadenstedts themselves.

If you're interested in seeing this unique and beautiful resort, directional signs are on Highway 97 at the entrance to Vernon or inquire at the Chamber of Commerce office in Pukinuk Park.

OUTSTANDING CLUB

In the Kelowna Club, the city businessmen have one of the outstanding clubs in British Columbia. A new building was completely refurbished when it opened in 1968.

In the lower photo Mrs. Nagel, who has directed the water ballet for years, gives a demonstration of a double ballet leg, one of the more difficult manoeuvres. All synchronized swimming exercises call for strong muscles, perfect control and a great deal of practice. Swimmers who have to lay off each winter find great difficulty in getting back into shape. The 60 girls that take part in the water show expend a great deal of effort following Mrs. Nagel's instructions each year, some six weeks before the Regatta is staged.

Regatta Started Swim Notable

By E. E. BAKER

Of The Courier Staff

Joan Nagel has won her share of glory when it comes to rhythmic swimming. But if anyone was direct and unaffected it was that Kelowna native as she sat in the back office of the Kelowna Aquatic, testifying about the earliest days.

Mrs. Nagel, in town to direct the Aqua Rhythms in Regatta water ballet routines, thought back to her first summer with the Aquatic when she was six years old, taking swimming lessons.

Since that time Mrs. Nagel has become a noted figure in both the United States and Western Canada, performing, being applauded, winning titles.

But I never forget that if I had never taken those swimming lessons at the Aquatic I wouldn't be where I am today," Mrs. Nagel said.

THE START

"The Aquatic brought me up from swimming lessons I went on to Red Cross classes. Then I passed an instructor's course and was given a summer job as lifeguard.

From her position as lifeguard Mrs. Nagel, formerly Joan McKelley, 1915 Elm street, advanced to swimming instructor.

Then came "Babe" McKelley came to Kelowna to direct the Aqua Rhythms. Joan McKelley was given her first swim in the Regatta of 1954.

Mrs. McKelley, now in the Hall of Fame, headed as the top synchronized swimmer in the world. First encouraged by the graceful young swimmer, Joan Nagel moved to Hollywood in 1954 for water training under the famous instructor. She finished her training in 1959.

"I trained from two to three hours a day, six days a week. In 1953 I won the California and United States championships, junior and senior divisions. I was proclaimed runner-up in the American national team event that year."

CAME HOME

During her years in Hollywood Joan Nagel returned to Kelowna every summer to assist Mrs. McKelley in directing the Aqua Rhythms.

In 1956 Mrs. Nagel was offered the directorship of the Aqua Rhythms. She was the first Kelowna native to be offered the position. She has returned for the last seven years.

"Kelowna has always been behind me. It makes such a difference. The city has given me a chance to do what I wanted to. I feel indebted," said Mrs. Nagel.

Joan Nagel received her education in Kelowna. "It is definitely my home town, and all ways will be. My return to the city is the highlight of my year. I have never missed a summer away from it in my life."

"The only reason I leave in the winter is because of training and instructing advantages which Kelowna lacks."

FOOTBALL STAR

The youthful director married football star Baz Nagel in 1959. Mr. Nagel played professionally for nine years. He played for Calgary Stampede, the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and the B.C. Lions during the last five years, until his retirement this year.

After her marriage Mrs. Nagel and her husband made their home in Vancouver where the Joan Nagel swim school is situated. She is also the vice-president of the B.C. Synchronized Swimming Association. During winter months she instructs rhythmic swimmers in Vancouver, dividing her time between her own school and the Hollywood Winter Club.

and Art Vipond. They help with costumes and construction. A success it was," Mrs. Nagel said.

HOME

Mrs. Nagel has worked among the greats in Hollywood and can remember such names as Nanette Fabray, Orin Harvey, Lyle Draves, diver, Johnny "Jungle Jim" Weismuller, but Kelowna has always been the magnet when Mrs. Nagel thinks of "home," and Kelowna remembers, in turn, the lovely young woman who has added so much to its summer program.

STORIES PLACES

Mrs. Nagel has appeared in swimming numbers in Disneyland, Las Vegas, and Palm Springs, as well as Vancouver, and the Kelowna Regatta.

"The Regatta is my way of life. I have been associated with it for so long and have watched it grow. Sometimes I think I could back each year out of it, but I don't. I would have been standing on their heads on the parade grounds. They are practically born to them around here."

NO FACILITIES

"It is time Kelowna got on the map in all phases of water sports. We have the greatest water show, but fall down badly in competitive swimming. Sufficient training cannot be given in two months."

Mrs. Nagel seems to do wonders in the water, however. This year 60 girls are receiving instruction from Mrs. Nagel, who arranges water ballets, selects musical accompaniment and designs costumes.

"I get a thrill every year when I see the girls live up to my expectations. And I love working with my helpers, who have assisted me every year."

WORKERS

The workers behind the scenes are Billie Jenkins, Mrs. Bruce Van Montfort, Edna Gowell and Art Vipond. They help with costumes and construction. A success it was," Mrs. Nagel said.

SPEEDY HYDROPLANES RACE AT REGATTA

Possibly the most spectacular, the most exciting event of the annual Kelowna Regatta is the power boat races. Sugar-foot, owned by Jon C. Nelson, on Seattle, is shown in the 1963 Regatta races for the 250 cubic inch hydroplanes. Speeds in excess of 100 miles an hour are often reached in the triangular course laid out in front of the Ogopogo Stadium. A large number of highly touted racers are already entered for the 51st running of the Regatta races, and this year promises to be one of the most exciting of all. In the background is Kelowna's pure-white city hall, a landmark for miles.

Prizes, Trophies For Power Boats

Nine trophies and $200 in prize money will be offered on the final day of the 51st Kelowna International Regatta when about 50 inboard and outboard motorboats splash and flip their way over a five mile course. Roger Cottle, chairman of the powerboat races committee said, "There will be about the same number of boats this year and one change as far as classes go."

DEEP ONE

"This year we will drop the 225 cubic inch class and put the crackerboxes on the program. They put on a great race last year and there aren't enough boats in the 225 class. "However, we will still have four outboard and five inboard classes. The outboard classes will be divided into boats for 'B' stock hydro, 'B' racing hydro and 'B' utility runabout, all using motors that are about 20 horsepower," Mr. Cottle said.

INBOARD

"The inboard classes will be divided into boats for the 145 cubic inch stock motors, 150 cubic inch custom-built motor, the 200 cubic inch motor and the largest in the inboard class, the 250 cubic inch motors. The straightaway record for the latter class is 107 miles per hour. "The fifth group in the inboards are the 'crackerboxes'. These boats flip around and this is perhaps the most dangerous race. The boat is a runabout shaped along the lines of the 'B' utility runabout. "There are 18 boats altogether and these are lined up so an outfit can bring three boats and two motors and still compete in three races," Mr. Cottle said.

COURSE

"The course is five miles long and runs in a north, east, south, west oval. The race starts at the Yacht Club, down to a turn at Manhattan Drive beach, up to the Aquatic and back down to the Yacht Club.

"Boats from British Columbia, Washington and Alberta will compete in the races with the possibility of some outside boats coming.

"Races will start at 11 a.m. and run to lunch time. This will cover three classes, each running two heats. The remainder of the classes will be run off after lunch until 4 p.m."

FIRST HERE

The first white men to see Kelowna were a group of fur traders employed by the North West Company, who traded through the valley from 1810 on. David Stuart and a group of three traders camped beside the lake in November, 1811, near the scenic look-out on the west side of the lake.

ALTITUDE

Kelowna's altitude is 1,130 feet above sea level.

Headhunters Go To Work When Flame Trees Bloom

MANILA (Reuters) — When the flame trees bloom, rifle-armed headhunters strike in the hinterlands of the northern Philippines. The blazing red blossoms, admired for their beauty in the islands, bring death and terror to Christian settlers in the mountains of Nueva Vizcaya province, 100 miles northeast of Manila. The flame trees bloom in summer. And summer is the mating season of the Ilongots, a fierce mountain tribe which has vigorously resisted efforts by Christian missionaries and the government to wear them down from their traditional pagan customs. Headhunting is part of the Ilongots' ancient marriage ritual. A young tribesman has to present the girl he loves with a Christian's head before he can marry her. Recently, the headhunters killed 15 Christians in two months. Among the victims were five fishermen who were ambushed on a forest creek.

BEST HILL

Kelowna's city hall is the finest of those in small cities in Western Canada and compares favorably with any in the larger cities.

Important Sailboat Race Follows Regatta Week

Although sail boat racing has been conducted after the Regatta since 1911, this year will run August 17 and 18. "We are expecting 50 to 60 boats from Spokane, Coeur d'Alene, Vancouver, Quenel, Seattle, Bellingham, Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Fort St. John, Dawson Creek and points sailboat racing chairman. "The problem is co-ordinating the sailboat races with other open water events. "We can never tell before the races whether the winds will be fast enough to have everyone off the course in a prescribed time. For these races we require the whole lake area visible from the Aquatic or Yacht Club," Mr. Greenwood said.

FOURTH YEAR

"This is the fourth consecutive year sailing races have been conducted after the Regatta. This year they will run August 17 and 18. "We are expecting 50 to 60 boats from Spokane, Coeur d'Alene, Vancouver, Quenel, Seattle, Bellingham, Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Fort St. John, Dawson Creek and points sailboat racing chairman. "The problem is co-ordinating the sailboat races with other open water events. "We can never tell before the races whether the winds will be fast enough to have everyone off the course in a prescribed time. For these races we require the whole lake area visible from the Aquatic or Yacht Club," Mr. Greenwood said.

CITY FIREMEN STAND WATCH

Visitors, and spectators at this year's Regatta may not realize it, but they will receive first-class fire protection while watching the shows.

City firemen make twice-daily inspections of the area and stand by for any emergency.

"We have never had any trouble yet," says Fire Chief Charles Pettman, "and we don't expect any this year."

The city department will be augmented by crews from the B.C. Forest Service, stationed under the grandstand at Ogopogo Pool.

Kinsmen Service Club, Wives Set Up Midway For Big Show

One of the most popular spots during Regatta week is the bustling, active midway, operated by the city Kinsmen Club. Manager of the midway committee is Robert Koenig, who is assisted by Alfred Fletcher. Mr. Koenig said 18 booths will be in operation throughout the five days of the Regatta.

The midway booths are operated, as well as supplied with prizes by the 50 Kinsmen members and their wives.

Among the booths this year will be such games as fish ponds, dart balloons, hoopla, bingo, high-striker, crown and anchor, ball pitching and jewelry spindle.

"The Kinsmen are hoping the midway will hold the same attraction for the people as in other years, if not better," Mr. Koenig said.

"Funds raised are split with the Regatta committee. Our portion is used for the betterment of the community. "City people realize we operate the midway for a good cause, and do not try to cheat the people. Actually, we help them, as funds stay in the city to their advantage. "The reaction to the midway has always been good. We have never had a complaint," said Mr. Koenig.

The Kinsmen and their wives put a great deal of hard work into the running of the midway, arranging work committees a week in advance of the Regatta to set up and prepare booths. It seems only fair that the resulting midway should be such a repeated success, drawing huge crowds into its gay confusion of color and sound.

TWO TOP KELOWNA DIVERS WORK OUT

Dave Mangold (left) and Gordon Brown (right) exercise a routine in the water at the diving tower at Ogopogo Pool. These two men are the two top Kelowna divers now in competition.

Diving Championships Highlight of 57th Regatta

The 57th annual international with the 10 years and under Irene McDonald, former U.S. Regatta will feature some of the group through to the age of diving champion and John De- finest water exhibitions in the oldest competition. There is larger Pacific Coast diving nation. Included in the program no restriction placed on ages of champion.

Dr. George Athans, chairman every day at Ogopogo pool the water show in Canada. Many of the names will be familiar to Kelowna audiences as successive years go by and the well-known stars of water sports return again and again.

The number participating in the event is increasing all the time. The volume swells each year, in accord with the purpose of the event, to encourage more divers to take part in the Regatta itself. Dr. Athans said.

200 DIVERS
A total of 200 divers from points all over Canada and the United States were entered in last year's competition. This year the number is expected to be much larger.

Cities contributing the most entrants are Vancouver, Seattle and Everett. Divers from such points as Spokane, Victoria and Calgary arrive in Kelowna each year to participate in the annual Western Canadian Championship diving competition.

AGE GROUPS
Competitive classes are divided into age groups, beginning with the 10 years and under.

Ogopogo Pool Diving Tower Named After Diving Doctor

It stands over 30 feet high, built to Olympic standards and is commonly known as the Athans Tower.

Kelowna is proud of its diving tower at the Ogopogo pool.

It is named after Dr. George Athans, one of Canada's top divers and since 1953 a member of the Canadian Hall of Fame.

Dr. Athans was born in Vancouver and has practiced medicine at Kelowna since 1950. At the 1950 British Empire Games he won more points for Canada than any other athlete. He was on the Canadian Olympic diving team in 1936, 1937 and 1948. He has been the Canadian diving champion more years than he can remember.

Mrs. Athans is also a noted swimmer, the Courier files attest to their devoted work with youngsters.

Dr. and Mrs. Athans have three sons, George 11, Greg 8 and Gary 2. Mrs. Irene Athans is a native of Winnipeg.

THREE OTHERS
Besides Dr. Athans three other men were vitally connected with the new diving tower, erected just in time for the 1951 Regatta. They are O. L. Jones, M.P. for Okanagan-Boundary at the time of its construction; Ald. R. F. Parkinson and H. C. Armeaneu of the Kelowna Machine Works Ltd.

In June, 1951, Ald. Parkinson sent a letter to Mr. Jones in Ottawa describing the condition of the old wooden tower and the need for a permit to acquire steel piping.

"The tower was becoming dangerous and unsatisfactory for top-notch work since rot was setting in," said the letter.

MANY BOARDS
At that time a new up-to-date diving tower of steel piping construction was requested. The tower would accommodate three, five and ten meter diving.

The main request in the letter asked Mr. Jones to approach R. F. MacKenzie, then director of permits, field division, department of defense productions with the federal government, for a permit to acquire the piping.

Mr. Jones was "delighted to do my bit for the cause" and approached the minister with the request for the piping, considered a luxury at that time.

Mr. Armeaneu gave this version of the tower's construction. NOT AVAILABLE
"At that time there wasn't an

Many Involved In Helping Lady of Lake Contestants

Becoming Lady-of-the-Lake is not just standing on a stage and waiting for a verdict. The same candidates for the position of "First Lady" of Okanagan waters must train hard beginning with being chosen as candidate until the moment when final selection is made.

The girls were hard. Becoming Lady-of-the-Lake is mostly training and training takes a lot of time," said Mrs. Roy W. Wainwright, president of the Aquatic Society.

Skirts Replacing Slacks, Shorts At French Beach Resorts

PARIS (Reuters)—Skirts are peared in every leading couture replacing slacks and shorts on and ready-to-wear resort collections of smart French fashions.

The seaside shift emerges as a leader in Jacques Heim's special "plein soleil" collection. The basic silhouette is semi-fitted to the waist and then flares to the knee-length. Linens are shown in searing bright colors in such contrasting tones as pink and orange, or red and violet.

This year's bathing beaches no longer resemble caricatures of 1960 barbershop quartets. Last summer's little boy look has gone the way of so many fly-by-night fashions.

Women who wear smart couture clothes and the designers who create them are agreed today that the majority of their clients prefer to look like women—in a skirt.

The trend started in the winter when hostess skirts replaced stretch slacks for casual wear at home. Christian Dior's spring collection carried the idea into summer with ankle-length linen "shifts" called "terrace dresses." Even garden costumes in the Dior boutique feature slacks and tunic effects.

THE SKIRT CRAZE
The feeling for skirts quickly gained momentum. Shifts and blouses, tunics and togas appeared.

DESERT CLIMATE
Kelowna's climate is dry, the average annual moisture precipitation is 12.1 inches over a 32 year period.

MORE STREETS
Kelowna has more bus stoppings and bus routes than any other city in the Okanagan.

UNKNOWN EYES
Aside from the surveillance was the knowledge that any of those eyes might be the out-of-town judges, whose identity was at all times unknown to every-one concerned with the contest.

The presence of the judges at all functions was never revealed. The girls' comportment was to be judged on a constant, all-around basis.

The final judging will decide which of the candidates fulfills the stands expected of someone who is to represent Kelowna for a year, yet each of the candidates must be able to do something they can benefit from all their lives: experience in being the centre of attention, assistance and the memory of an experience which comes once in a lifetime.

Hudson Bay Disappearing

WINNIPEG (CP) — Hudson Bay will disappear in several thousand years, says a geology professor.

Dr. Bruce Wilson of the University of Manitoba says the earth surface of the area is rising as a result of the disappearance of a mile-deep sheet of ice that covered much of North America during the last ice age.

Hudson Bay was formed by a weakness in the earth's crust at the junction of two ancient mountain ranges. "During the glacial period this area was depressed more than the rest of the continent."

And now it's rising faster. Hudson Bay is a massive body of salt water touching the Northwest Territories and northern Manitoba, Quebec and Ontario.

Retiring Lady of the Lake Grateful For Experience

Ruth Gillespie, charming Lady-of-the-Lake, has reached the final days of her royal reign. For a year she has been the center of attention wherever she went. Here has been the glory of warm applause, admiration, the wonderful feeling of being wanted and esteemed.

Behind the glamour were nervousness, the worry of living up to popular opinion and the strain of constant public appearances, but "It has been a year I'll never forget, a tremendous experience in every way," said Miss Gillespie.

DAWSON CITY

Ruth Gillespie was born in Dawson City in 1945, coming to Kelowna when she was five years old. She graduated this year from Kelowna senior high school, and plans to train as a nurse at Vancouver General Hospital.

Ruth was entered in the Lady-of-the-Lake contest as Miss Teen Town, having been proclaimed Teen Town Sweetheart in 1962.

Being Teen Town sweetheart helped to get her started on the way to becoming Lady-of-the-Lake. Everything began a little when it comes to gaining self-confidence and poise, she said.

"I was really not expecting to become Lady-of-the-Lake. I don't suppose anyone does. When my name was announced I was shocked. It caught me off guard and I was nervous."

BIGGEST MOMENT

That was the greatest moment of the past year, perhaps of any year in her life. Ruth said. Her first official duty as Lady-of-the-Lake was preventing awards to competing champions at the Saturday night show at the 56th Regatta.

"A big night for me was the opening of the civic theatre. Perhaps the greatest event as Lady-of-the-Lake which stands out in my memory is the Vernon Winter Carnival where all B.C. royalty were guests," she said.

MANY DUTIES

Lady-of-the-Lake duties are many, and varied, from attending small teas to travelling to large-scale events at far corners of the province.

Ruth was called upon to attend coffee parties and teas during Regatta week, present awards at track meets, and attend shows sponsored by service clubs.

She was also offered a tour of the Prairie provinces, but felt it would interfere with her schooling. One of her princesses, Ann Patro, substituted.

VANCOUVER TRIP

As Lady-of-the-Lake, Ruth's biggest trip was to Vancouver, where she and her two princesses, Gail Cook and Ann Patro, attended the Pacific National Exhibition.

The Summerland Festival and Armstrong parade were also part of Ruth's busy schedule.

At all events the Lady-of-the-Lake had to be prepared to make speeches on short notice, and always, as a representative of Kelowna, indicate by deportment and appearance that she was worthy of the honor of being selected Lady-of-the-Lake.

And she has. Completely.

It is easy to see why Ruth Gillespie was chosen as the girl most suited to reign in the hearts of "subjects" every year. Yet there is something about Ruth Gillespie that, though not definable, sets her apart from other girls and makes her a perfect choice for a royal position.

Being Lady-of-the-Lake has been a great honor. I have learned a great deal and gained so much. The experience cannot ever be equalled in quite the same way again for me," she said.

"That is why everyone who meets her the contest benefits in a special way. It does a girl so much good to learn how to act correctly," Ruth said.

BOAT RACEWAY MUST BE CLEAR

Boat owners who move out on the race course during a sanctioned power boat race, are liable to a fine not exceeding $500.

The marine section of the RCMP, Kelowna detachment will be out on the lake to see that regulations are carried out.

No boats, other than official crafts, are permitted inside the course triangle. No boats are permitted to cross the course during the race, or move near the course at a rate of speed which might endanger life. Police officers have full jurisdiction over all water craft during a sanctioned regatta.

Racing rules are set out under a federal order in council.

Russians Said Fazed In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The hundreds of Russians arriving here each month appear no less dazzled by what they see in Cuba than Premier Fidel Castro was in the Soviet Union. In his last speech, Castro expressed deep admiration for what he was shown there.

Havana's skyscrapers, western automobiles and unbridled manners are all new to most Russians, who appear to have ventured beyond the Red borders for the first time in their lives.

The tall concrete and glass buildings, topped with Soviet eagles, are the first sight of modern architecture. The lush vegetation of the tropics is no less strange to them and the sea is one of their favorite objects.

Recently a large group of Russian agricultural technicians was lodged at one of Havana's biggest hotels. On their first evening on the town, the technicians looked to a small refreshment stand. Giggling they tasted lemon pop and pineapple juice. It did not seem to please their palates.

But three shapely girls behind the counter kept the Russians riveted to the kiosk amid much giggling and guffawing.

Strong Cuban cigarettes were more to their liking.

American and European autos are like magnets to newly arrived Russians. They circle the cars at a cautious distance, then those in to inspect the dashboards.

Juke boxes, semi-automatic elevators, frozen daquiris, electric dishwashers and other relics of "decadent imperialism" all puzzle, then delight the Russians.

Conspicuous in their white nylon shirts and sandals, the Russians have not endeared themselves to all Havana's citizens.

Russian families live together in separate hotels or residential districts. They have their own grocery stores and their children attend a special school staffed by Russians. Those Cubans whose sympathies do not lie with the regime make no bones about their dislike of the Russians and miss no chance to snub them.

YOUTHFUL RELAY RACER IN TAKE-OFF POSITION

Swimming races play a large part in the annual Kelowna Regatta, with competitors of all ages taking part. Thirteen-year-old Lynn Snow, shown here just after take-off in a relay race is one of those competing. The races begin on Wednesday and continue to the end of the Regatta with eliminations along the way.

Aquatic Ladies Auxiliary Work Hard Year Round

By FLORA EVANS
Woman's Editor
Of The Daily Courier

As Kelowna grows and prospers so grows the Regatta and as the Regatta grows and prospers so grows the tremendous task of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Kelowna Aquatic.

Not greatly in evidence themselves, these busy women work like bees behind the scenes, co-operating with the Aquatic Advisory Committee in raising money for Aquatic improvements and above all making sure the social side of Regatta runs smoothly, as well as supervising and promoting the Lady of the Lake contestants and pageant.

During the winter the Auxiliary, now in its 25th year, holds fashion shows, rummage sales and various money raising projects to help in the promotion of water safety, the maintenance and improvement of the beautiful Aquatic pool and the Aquatic building itself. This year one of their main projects is the establishment of a permanent P.A. system in the Aqua ballroom.

EXECUTIVE

The president of the Ladies Auxiliary who has now a seat on the Aquatic Advisory Board is Mrs. Roy Wignall and her executive are: vice-president, Mrs. F. R. Gladow; secretary, Miss Kitty Stanley-Reese; treasurer, Mrs. Carl Bries; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wm. H. Cleav; publicity, Mrs. Thomas modelled summer fashions as Walker; social, Mrs. Ian Collins.

son, membership, Mrs. Jack Burdette; refreshments, Mrs. J. A. McPhail; and chairman of the queen's committee, Mrs. L. W. Preston.

MEMBERSHIP PARTY

In June a coffee party is held in the Aquatic lounge and all the residents of the district are invited to meet the members of the auxiliary and are asked to join the various committees if they are at all interested in the work.

Another June event is the Lady of the Lake reception which is held with the two-fold purpose of raising money for the three matching costumes needed by the incoming royalty to wear when travelling or at the informal social functions they attend and to give the public a chance to meet and become interested in the candidates who serve the refreshments themselves and mingle with the guests. This year Moe Young was master of ceremonies for the occasion and Mrs. J. J. Van Acheren acted as commentator.

FASHION LUNCHEONS

The very popular fashion luncheons are held on the Wednesday before Regatta at the Aquatic, and this year on account of the weather three luncheons took place during July and the fourth will follow Regatta. Each week a different member of the auxiliary acted as hostess and three of the evening performances.

the store, donating the clothes.

An innovation has been the outdoor tables under the garden umbrellas which were added to the delightful verandah tables overlooking the lake to accommodate the extra large crowds attending. These luncheons not only help the candidates to gain poise and self assurance but have become very popular social events to which Kelownians enjoy taking their out-of-town guests and friends.

AQUACADES

During the weekly evening Aquacades which took place on the five Tuesdays prior to Regatta the members of the Ladies Auxiliary ran three bingo games each evening, adding to the enjoyment and the funds.

DECORATING COMMITTEE

Each year the decorating committee make up floral arrangements which they deliver personally to the wives of Regatta's specially invited guests as well as arranging floral backgrounds and table decorations for all the social events sponsored by the auxiliary. In charge of this committee is Mrs. M. D. Hughes.

USHERING

Under the convenship of Mrs. F. R. Gladow and her co-conveners Mrs. M. Wood, members of the auxiliary assist the Kelowna Gyro Club to usher the crowds to their seats for the evening performances.

PASSES

Passes to Regatta are under the supervision of Mrs. Harold

High Level Boxing Match In Nigeria

LAGOS (Reuters) — Nigeria's big, broad-shouldered boxer, Chief Joseph Mokuje Johnson, has agreed to box the champion of Ghana's boxing corporation and three other prominent Ghanaians — all in fun of course.

The high-level fights are to be added attractions for the world title fight between middleweight champion Don Ingber and American challenger Gene Fullmer in Ibadan, western Nigeria, July 21.

Chief Johnson, 31, six feet four inches and weighing 222 pounds, is unique among combat boxers in Africa — for that matter anywhere else. He insists on keeping fit the hard way.

"I just don't believe in quiet recreation," he says. "Work never worries me. Boxing, tennis or just physical exercise to keep fit, these are the necessary things in my life."

IN HIS BATHING

Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Gregory, has been the champion of the Lagos Boxing Corporation since 1954. He is a member of the Lagos Boxing Corporation and three other prominent Ghanaians — all in fun of course.

The big, broad-shouldered Nigerian who also likes to play the organ and keeps an extensive collection of top hats, says he will go four rounds against the chief ring challenger, K. H. Twine, champion of Ghana's boxing corporation.

As for the other three challengers — two Ghanaian legislators and the vice-chairman of the Ghana Boxing Authority, Chief Johnson says, "I'll take them on for one round each but even they agree the women are indispensable."

his style:

With all these new-style rules and regulations, the early heroes of Cap Stadium wouldn't recognise the old ball game today. But, they'd still appreciate one style: Old Style. It's still brewed with natural ingredients and plenty of time. Still brewed in B.C. for Old Style flavour.
